FORTIETH CONGRESS.

The Impeachment Court—Verdict on the Eleventh Article—Adjournment of the Court for Ten Days—Senate Proceedings—Debate on Resolution for Recess — Impeachment in the House—Missouri Members and Senator Henderson—Managers Instructed to Investigate Allegations of Corruption.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 16, 1868.

SENATE.

The Senate met at 11.30. The galleries were filled and policemen were standing in the aisles.

Senator TRUMBULL reported back from the Judiciary Committee the bill for the admission of Arkansas without amendment, which was laid over.

Senator HENDRICKS gave notice that he would offer an amendment when it came up for action.

Some unimportant bills were introduced and various messages received from the House.

OPENING OF IMPEACHMENT COURT.

At twelve o'clock precisely, the CHIEF JUSTICE, wearing his silk robe of office, entered and took his seat as presiding officer of the Court of Impeachment and directed the Sergeant-at-Arms to make proclamation.

Proclamation was made in the usual form.

The Secretary then proceeded to read the Journal of the last day's proceedings in the case of the United States against Andrew Johnson, President.

ORDER FOR TAKING THE VERDICT.

When the reading was concluded, Senator EDMUNDS called up the order heretofore submitted, in the following words:

"Ordered, That the Chief Justice, in directing the Secretary to read the several articles of impeachment, shall direct him to read the eleventh article first, and the question shall be taken on that article, and thereafter on the other ten successively as they stand."

Before taking it up, Senator EDMUNDS offered the following:

"Ordered, That the Secretary be directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate, sitting for the trial of the President on the articles of impeachment, are ready to receive them in the Senate Chamber," which was adopted.

Senator JOHNSON inquired whether the order of Senator Williams was debatable?

The CHIEF JUSTICE replied that it was not.

Senator Johnson said he would like to make a remark on it.

Senator CONNESS objected.

The question was then put on taking up Senator Williams' order for action, and it was decided—yeas 34, nays 19. [Senator Wade voted for the first time, and in the affirmative. Senator Grimes was not present.]

The question was then taken on the adoption of the order, and it was carried by the same vote—yeas 34, nays 19, as follows:

YEAS.

Cameron.	Harlan.	Sprague.
Cattell.	Howard.	Stewart.

While the votes were being taken the members of the House were announced as at the bar of the Senate. They entered headed by Mr. Washburne, of Illinois.

SENATOR GRIMES APPEARS.

Senator FESSENDEN rose to make a motion to postpone the vote for an hour, on account of the absence of Senator Grimes; but on being informed that Senator was in the capitol, he did not make the motion. Senator Grimes immediately afterwards came in and took a seat in one of the side aisles.

TAKING OF THE VERDICT ON THE ELEVENTH ARTICLE.

Senator EDMUNDS submitted an order that the Senate now proceed to vote on the articles according to the rules of the Senate. Agreed to.

The CHIEF JUSTICE, rising, said: "By direction of the Senate the Chief Justice desires to admonish citizens and strangers in the galleries that absolute silence and perfect order is required. It will be a subject of infinite regret if any violation of this order of the Senate will necessitate the execution of the further order that the persons guilty of disturbance be immediately removed."

Then, addressing the Senators, the CHIEF JUSTICE said: "Senators, in conformity to this order of the Senate the Chief Justice will now proceed to take the vote on the eleventh article as directed by the rule."

The eleventh article was read by the Clerk.

The first name on the roll, that of Senator Anthony, being called, that Senator arose and the Chief Justice, also standing, addressed to him this formula:

"Mr. Senator Anthony, how say you, is the respondent, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, guilty or not guilty of a high misdemeanor as charged in the article?"

Senator ANTHONY responded "Guilty."

And so the vote went on till all the Senators had responded, the vote summing up yeas 35, nays 19, as follows:

FOR CONVICTION.

Anthony.	Frelinghuysen.	Sherman.
Cameron.	Harlan.	Sprague.
Cattell.	Howard.	Stewart.

ORDER PRESERVED.

The votes of the Senators were waited for with the utmost anxiety, though nothing more than a general motion of suspense relieved was made manifest when the vote of a doubtful Senator was given.

It was noticed that Senator Cameron voted ahead of time. The Chief Justice had not concluded the formal question before the Senator's vote of guilty was pronounced.

Senators Fessenden, Fowler, Grimes, Ross, Trumbull and Van Winkle were among the Republican Senators who voted "not guilty."

Senator Wade, when his name was called, stood up unhesitatingly and voted "guilty."

MOTION TO ADJOURN BEFORE ANNOUNCING THE VOTE.

Before the result of the vote was announced, but when it was known, Senator WILLIAMS rose and moved that the Senate, sitting as Court of Impeachment, adjourn until Tuesday, May 26th, at 12 o'clock.

Senator JOHNSON addressed the Chief Justice.

The CHIEF JUSTICE said debate was not in order.

Senator JOHNSON—Is it in order to adjourn the Senate when it has already decided on one of the articles?

CHIEF JUSTICE—The precedents are, except in one case, the case of Humphrey, that announcement was not made till the end of the cause. The Chair will, however, take the direction of the Senate. If the Senate desire the announcement to be made now, it will be made.

Senator SHERMAN—The announcement of the vote had better be made.

Senator DRAKE—I submit as a question of order that a motion to adjourn is now pending and that motion takes precedence of all other things.

CHIEF JUSTICE—The Senator from Missouri is perfectly right. A motion to adjourn has been made, and that motion takes precedence.

Senator HENDRICKS—The motion to adjourn cannot be made pending a vote, and the vote is not completed until announced.

Senator CONKLING—A motion cannot be made pending roll call.

Several Senators—Certainly not; let the vote be announced.

Senator JOHNSON—I ask that the vote be announced.

THE VOTE ANNOUNCED.

The CHIEF JUSTICE—The vote will be announced. The Clerk will read the roll.

The roll having been read by the Clerk, the CHIEF JUSTICE rose and announced the result in these words: "On this article there are thirty-five Senators who have voted guilty and nineteen Senators who have voted not guilty. The President is, therefore, acquitted on this article."

There was no manifestation of sentiment made on either side of the question. Whatever were the feelings of Senators, members and spectators, they were thoroughly repressed.

THE MOTION TO ADJOURN.

Senator WILLIAMS' motion to adjourn until Tuesday, 26th inst., was then taken up.

Senator HENDRICKS submitted as a question of order, that the Senate was now executing an order already, which was in the nature and had the effect of the previous question. Therefore the motion to adjourn, otherwise than simply to adjourn, was not in order.

Calls of "question," "question."

MOTION RULED NOT IN ORDER.

The CHIEF JUSTICE—The motion that when the Senate adjourn it adjourn to meet at a certain date, cannot now be entertained, because the Senate is in process of executing an order. A motion to adjourn to a certain day seems to the Chair to come under the same rule. The Chair will therefore decide the motion not in order.

RULING NOT SUSTAINED.

Senator CONNESS—From that decision I appeal.

The CHIEF JUSTICE put the question and directed the Clerk to read the order adopted to-day, on motion of Senator Edmunds, as follows: "Ordered, that the Senate do now proceed to vote on the articles according to the rules of the Senate."

Senator HOWARD called for the yeas and nays on the question whether the decision of the Chair should be sustained.

The vote was taken and resulted—yeas 24, nays 30, as follows:

YEAS.

Anthony.	Fessenden.	Norton.
Bayard.	Fowler.	Patterson, Tenn.
Buckalew.	Grimes.	Saulsbury.
Conkling.	Henderson.	Sherman.
Davis.	Hendricks.	Trumbull.
Dixon.	Johnson.	Van Winkle.
Doolittle.	McCreery.	Vickers.
Ferry.	Morgan.	Willey.

NAYS.

Cameron.	Harlan.	Ross.
Cattell.	Howard.	Sprague.
Chandler.	Howe.	Stewart.
Cole.	Morrill, Me.,	Sumner.
Conness.	Morrill, Vt.,	Thayer.
Corbett.	Morton.	Tipton.
Cragin.	Nye.	Wade.
Drake.	Patterson, N. H.,	Williams.
Edmunds.	Pomeroy.	Wilson.
Frelinghuysen.	Ramsey.	Yates.

So the decision of the Chief Justice was reversed, and the motion to adjourn was ruled in order.

AMENDMENTS OFFERED.

Senator HENDERSON moved to amend the order by striking out the words 26th inst., and inserting in lieu thereof the words "Wednesday, the first day of July next."

The amendment was rejected—yeas 20, nays 34.

Senator McCREARY moved to amend the order by making it read without day.

This amendment was also rejected—yeas 6, nays 47, as follows:

Yeas—Senators Bayard, Drake, Dixon, Doolittle, McCreary and Vickers.

Senator BUCKALEW moved to amend the order by providing for an adjournment till Monday, the 25th—rejected without division.

MOTION TO ADJOURN PREVAILS.

The question recurred on the order as originally offered by Senator Williams, to adjourn the Court till Tuesday, the 26th. The vote resulted: yeas 31, nays 20.

YEAS.

Anthony.	Harlan.	Stewart.
Cameron.	Howard.	Sumner.
Cattell.	Howe.	Thayer.
Chandler.	Morrill, Vt.,	Tipton.
Cole.	Morton.	Van Winkle.
Conness.	Nye.	Wade.

Ferry.	Morgan.	Willey.
Fessenden.	Norton.

THE COURT ADJOURNED.

The CHIEF JUSTICE announced the result and said, "So the Senate, sitting as a Court of Impeachment, stands adjourned till Tuesday, 26th, inst., at twelve o'clock."

The CHIEF JUSTICE then left the Chair and the members of the House retired to their own chamber.

The spectators, who filled every seat and standing place in the galleries, immediately began to pour into the halls and corridors, and the curtain fell for ten days on the national drama of impeachment. The closing scene was not marked by the slightest breach of decorum or good order.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION FOR RECESS.

The Senate having resumed its session, took up the concurrent resolution of the House for recess until the 25th inst. This gave rise to a discussion. The resolution was supported by Senators Morrill, of Vermont, Hendricks and Sumner, and opposed by Senators Conkling, Morrill, of Maine, and Nye.

Senator NYE said he had enough experience in this body to know it was useless to oppose an adjournment for a week, a day, or an hour. He thought the President would be able to take care of himself, with his new recruits. He thought a little embarrassment to the President would not be unprofitable. Let Arkansas come in to-day. Let us have a birth turn a death. Let us pass a concurrent resolution admitting the State of Arkansas and deliver him of his embarrassment by not sending it to him at all, to have it sent back here at the end of ten days. Turn another defiant veto; we have had enough of them. Let us admit Arkansas before the man is down. Let the President have another sweet morsel to roll under his tongue.

Senator SUMNER favored a recess on the ground that it would be beneath the dignity of the Senate to continue to transact business with the President of the United States. He had always felt it unbecoming in the Senate to transact business with the President while he was on trial for high crimes and misdemeanors. The President might go forth nominally acquitted; but he would go forth a blasted public functionary. That was his inevitable destiny. But until acquittal was entered on the record, the Senate would consult its own character by abstaining from any further interchange of messages between Congress and the President. For this reason he favored a recess.

Senator MORTON thought it rather late in the day to act on that idea, having gone on transacting business with the President.

Senator YATES was opposed to a recess, because he wanted more bills for the protection of humanity and liberty to be presented to the President for his action between now and the final vote on the articles of impeachment.

Senator WILSON opposed a recess on the same general grounds as Senator Nye did.

Senator DOOLITTLE favored a recess.

SENATOR HENDERSON AND HIS CONSCIENCE.

Senator HENDERSON took Senator Sumner to account for reflection on the President. If nothing else should cause Senators to abstain from such remarks, a decent sense of self-respect should restrain them. No associate had a right, either in the Senate or Court, to reflect on the conduct of any other Senator. No man had a higher respect for his constituents than himself, but his constituents could not enlighten him on the question of impeachment. It was a matter for his own conscience, and nothing could ever drive him from the performance of his duty. If his constituents disapproved of his course, he was in their hands, and they might do with him as the wished; but he was not to be told by his party to turn his back on law and justice. It was no use to try to make impeachment a party question. It was no party question, and the moment the party should put itself in the position that its members must purjure themselves, that party would and ought to crumble in the dust. For his own part, he regretted the subject of impeachment had ever been brought into the Senate, and he believed it never ought to have been. He thought, as long as the President was not convicted, it would not injure them to send a bill to him.

SENATOR DRAKE THROWS A BRICK.

Senator DRAKE asked if any Senator had assailed his colleague for his course in the Court of impeachment?

Several Senators—No one.

Senator HENDERSON enquired when his colleague had become the guardian of his character?

Senator DRAKE replied that here and elsewhere he considered himself in duty bound to defend it when assailed.

Senator MORTON raised the question of order that it was improper to assail Senators for voting one way or the other.

Senator DRAKE suggested when that Senator called another to order he should do it at the time the disorderly words are spoken, and not take the floor from a Senator speaking in order. He expressed his surprise that his colleague, Senator Henderson, under the supposition that some general aspersion had been made upon the seven Senators who had voted for acquittal, had been called upon immediately to defend himself from that aspersion.

Senator HENDERSON pointed out that a remark had been made deprecating intercourse with "this great criminal whom the Senator had voted to acquit."

HIS OWN ACCUSER.

Senator SUMNER disclaimed any allusion to the Senator in that remark; but said: Listening to the Senator, he will pardon me if I say that I was reminded of a proverb which seems to me to be very applicable to his case as he presented it. It is this: 'Who so excuses himself accuses himself.' The swiftness with which he rushed to self-defense brought to my mind this ancient maxim.

Senator SUMNER went on to repeat his argument, that it would be unbecoming in the Senate to interchange messages, &c., with the President while impeachment is pending. A vote, he claimed, has been taken on one article, but there are ten to be voted on, and on the article upon which we all know acquittal was only by one vote, he was saved by, as the saying is, "the skin of his teeth." I call it a nominal acquittal on that one article. I allude to that now, because it has been acted upon. There is a moral judgment against him—a judgment—

Senator HENDRICKS—I wish to inquire what decision the Chair made on the point of order made by my colleague?

The PRESIDENT pro tem.—The Chair did not make any.

Senator HENDRICKS—Then I ask a decision on that point of order as applicable to the remarks of the Senator from Massachusetts.

Senator SUMNER—I ask the Senator to put it in writing.

The PRESIDENT pro tem.—The Senator must put it in writing.

Senator HENDRICKS—I make the point of order that the line of argument made by the Senator is not in order.

Senator SUMNER said he knew of no rule that dictates to a Senator what course of argument he shall pursue, and he proceeded with his remarks, in the course of which he said he knew there were Senators who, since the impeachment question has been agitated, have continued their personal relations with the President, and others who have sought official appointments at his hands and frequented his house. He had no criticism to make, but he could not have done so himself.

Senator STEWART favored an adjournment on the ground that subjects must otherwise come up connected with the admission of the lately rebellious States, upon which opinions would be expressed that should be reserved until the question of impeachment is decided. He reminded the Senate that it was not a judicial trial only, as had been claimed, involving judicial issues and consequences.

Senator WILLEY raised the point of order that it was improper to allude to the question of impeachment in debate while pending.

The Chair ruled that no course of debate can be dictated by any question of order.

The question was stated to be on the motion to include the Senate in the resolution of the House. It was agreed to—29 to 20,—and the question recurring on the resolution as amended, it was rejected.

Yeas—Senators Anthony, Bayard, Buckalew, Cole, Conness, Corbett, Dawes, Dixon, Doolittle, Fowler, Hendricks, Johnson, McCreery, Morrill, (Vt.) Norton, Patterson, (N. H.,) Patterson, (Tenn.,) Van Winkle, Vickers, Williams—20.

Nays—Senators Cameron, Chandler, Conkling, Cragin, Drake, Edmonds, Ferry, Fessenden, Harlan, Howe, Morgan, Morrill, (Me.,) Morton, Nye, Pomeroy, Ramsay, Ross, Sherman, Thayer, Tipton, Trumbull, Wade. Willey, Wilson, and Yates—25.

After an unavailing attempt by Senator MORRILL, of Maine, to call up the deficiency bill, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

After prayer the members proceeded to the Senate Chamber, upon the return from which, Mr. Washburne, as Chairman of the Committee of the Whole, reported the progress of the impeachment trial.

SENATOR HENDERSON AGAIN.

Mr. ELDRIDGE, as a question of privilege, offered a preamble, reciting a letter of seven members of the House to Senator Henderson, stating an indecent and corrupt combination of the Representatives aforesaid had been entered into to influence the Senator aforesaid in his judgment and decison in the impeachment now pending and undetermined in the Senate, therefore,

Resolved, That a Select Committee of seven be appointed to investigate the said matter of the writing of said letter, whether the same was written to corrupt or improperly influence the judgment and decision of said Senator, and what action the House ought to take with reference thereto, and that said Committee be authorized to send for persons and papers.

Mr. MAYNARD inquired whether it was a question of privilege?

The SPEAKER replied: The gentleman from Wisconsin has so presented it. After examining the paper I find the gentleman does not charge corrupt purposes, but recites the words of the letter. Therefore, in the opinion of the Chair, as the letter did not embody any corrupt offer, the resolution was not a question of privilege; but he would submit the question to the decision of the House.

Mr. ELDRIDGE said he was desirous those Missouri members should be either exculpated or convicted, as the facts might warrant.

Mr. BLAINE inquired whether it was in order to move that the paper be not received?

The SPEAKER replied it was not yet before the House.

After further proceedings, the House, by a party vote—yeas 27, nays 82—decided that the paper did not present a question of privilege.

Mr. BENJAMIN, of Mo., asked leave to make a personal explanation not exceeding five minutes.

Mr. ELDRIDGE objected.

Mr. WOOD asked leave to introduce a resolution to recall from the Senate the House joint resolution proposing a recess of Congress.

The SPEAKER said that the time had expired.

Mr. ROSS, of Illinois, in behalf of his colleague from the Galena district, moved his colleague have leave of absence to travel in Europe, and have his expenses paid, as during last summer the Speaker said leave of absence could be granted only on request of gentlemen desiring it.

Mr. WASHBURNE reminded his colleague he would attend to his own personal matters. He would not call on any Knight of the Golden Circle to shrive him.

Mr. ROSS hoped his colleague would take no offense. He had made the request in consideration of the onerous duties which had devolved on his colleague.

A MISSOURI MEMBER SPEAKS.

Mr. BENJAMIN said the resolution of Mr. Eldridge not having been received as a question of privilege, an impression might go abroad that this disposition of the resolution was at the instance of the Missouri delegation who signed the letter which had been read at the Clerk's desk. He was not satisfied that such an impression should be made for himself, and he believed he also spoke for his colleagues. They desired the fullest investigation into all the facts in relation to the matter mentioned, and they asked that a special Committee of the House be appointed for the purpose. There were other facts within his knowledge, and others which would enter largely into the privileges of the Senator. They would not interpose any obstacles, but render every aid in their power which the House or the Committee might request. They desire there should be a full investigation and that all the facts should go to the country. They knew they had nothing to fear. They had neither done or said anything dishonorable or which would not bear the light of day before the country at large.

IMPEACHMENT MANAGERS—PROBABLE CORRUPTION.

Mr. BINGHAM, from the Impeachment Committee, reported a preamble, that information has come to them which seems to furnish them probable cause to believe that improper and corrupt means had been used to influence the determination of the Senate on the articles of impeachment, therefore be it

Resolved, The Managers be directed and instructed to summon and examine witnesses, send for persons and papers and take testimony on the subject.

Mr. ROSS made the question of order that the House had no power to try the Senators.

The SPEAKER ruled that the resolution did not propose to try Senators.

Mr. ROBINSON made the point that the Managers had discharged their duty, and therefore had nothing further to do.

The SPEAKER overruled the point, on the ground that the duties of the Managers had not been fully discharged, as the House reserved to itself the right to present any further articles of impeachment.

Other objections were made, when the Speaker ruled that the resolution was open to the same objection as that offered by Mr. Eldridge, in that there was no direct charge of corruption. Vague charges could not be construed as a question of privilege, but specific charges could. The question whether the resolution could be considered was for the House to decide.

The House, by yeas 78, nays 26, agreed to consider the resolution.

Mr. BINGHAM proceeded to state the reasons for the resolution.

Considerable debate followed, during which the House refused to adjourn and to table the resolution, which under the operation of the previous question, was finally adopted—yeas 88, nays 12.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Arrival of Delegates--An Acclamation for Grant--Wade Stock Rising--The Pennsylvania Delegation--Senatorial Treachery—Deep and Universal Indignation—The Soldiers and Sailors.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 17, 1868.

The city fills up rapidly with delegates. Every train comes loaded with members of the Convention and "outside" politicians.

Grant will be nominated by acclamation. No other name is recognized or suggested. The hero of Appomatox is to-day more endeared than ever to all Union men by his fidelity in the midst of so much treachery, and by his discretion in the face of the unprincipled intrigue which the traitors have attempted to organize against him.

The indications all point to the nomination of Wade for the second place. Delegates seem to concur in the duty of laying former preferences aside, and administering, by this selection, the most effective rebuke to the traitors.

The Pennsylvania delegation are not heartily united in favor of Curtin, and the seats from several of their districts are to be contested.

The Soldiers' Convention also promises to be a marked success. Its attendance will be full and enthusiastic. Its marked reprobation will be pronounced on Ross, the unfaithful Kansas Senator, as the only Union soldier in Congress who has betrayed his principles.

The indignation among the Republican delegates is deep and uncompromising against FESSENDEN, TRUMBULL and their co-plotters and tools. They are universally and unsparingly denounced. The Convention will not falter in its duty of condemnation, reiterating its opinion of treason in every department of the Government. The signs are cheering and hopeful. P.

West Point Visitors — Senator Henderson and Missouri Representatives—Currency Matters—President Congratulated.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 16, 1868.

WEST POINT VISITORS.

The President has appointed the following board of visitors to West Point Military Academy: General D. B. Franklin, Conn., General John Williams, Tenn., Prof. Wm. G. Peake, N. Y., Gen. Leslie Combs, Ky., Governor W. S. Sharkey, Miss., Prof. Henry Coppee, Pa., N. B. Judd, Illinois.

SENATOR HENDERSON.

The Missouri Congressional delegation have replied to Senator Henderson's recent letter. In that letter they say they are placed in a false position, but the misstatement of facts and inference, they are confident, was entirely unintentional on his part.

Senator Henderson has replied to them, narrating what took place at the interview. He says: It was at this point that I promised to ascertain whether I must resign or not. I did not want time to consider whether I could change my vote, or sit silent, or commit perjury, but simply whether there would be conviction regardless of my vote. These things were done on the spur of the moment, and almost without counsel on my part, and to me under a sense of humiliation which I cannot describe. So soon as I had time to reflect on the subject I determined to remain in my seat and do my duty. If my constituents, honest, intelligent, brave and reliable, shall in a body condemn me, I will give up my seat when it can be done with self respect.

THE PRESIDENT CALLED UPON.

The President during this evening received many calls of congratulation, including those of his Cabinet. The intense excitement which prevailed this afternoon throughout the city, growing out of the action of the Senate on the 11th article, has considerably abated.

LATEST FROM THE CAPITAL.

Important Announcement — A New Cabinet to be Formed—Present Members Willing to Retire—A. J. "Comes Down"—Rumor About Grant—Impeachment Mangers' Investigation.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 17, 1868.

The following statement is predicated on information derived from highly respectable sources: It is generally known here that some of the members, if not all, of President Johnson's cabinet, have signified their willingness to retire from office, and hence there is much speculation on that subject. Prominent gentlemen of both parties in conversation recently have agreed in the sentiment that much of the trouble between Congress and the President springs from the defect in the Executive administration under our present form of government, and that if the ministry here, as in England, would retire and give place to one in accordance with the expressed will of the people, we should have had peace long ago. Reconstruction under the President's plan having been rejected, it is now thought by Congressmen of both parties that he will agree to admit Southern representatives in any way practicable in order that it may have no effect on their judgment in passing on the articles of impeachment. It is said if impeachment had not been pending there is little doubt that a new Cabinet would long since have been designated, composed of the most distinguished and eminent men of the country. It should not, therefore, create surprise if a thorough change shall be made in the complexion of political affairs. If these conjectures should be realized it will remain for the Senate, in view of the probable defeat of the remaining articles of impeachment on the 26th instant, to accept or reject what, if offered and accepted in good faith, must soon lead to a restoration of the Union and peace and prosperity to the country.

It is not true that President Johnson has indicated the precise party character of the contemplated cabinet appointments, further than that they shall be men of eminent abilities, such as to challenge the confidence and respect of the entire country.

RUMOR ABOUT GRANT.

A report has been in circulation to-day that Gen. Grant has written a letter declaring that he will not accept the nomination for the Presidency on a platform of general negro suffrage; but after careful inquiry it cannot be verified. Republican members say there is no truth whatever in the rumor.

ALLEGED IMPEACHMENT CORRUPTION.

The impeachment Managers will commence to-morrow inquiry as to the improper or corrupt means said to have been used to influence the determination of the Senate upon the articles of impeachment.

DID NOT CALL ON THE PRESIDENT.

There is no truth whatever in the report that Chief Justice Chase called yesterday on President Johnson and congratulated him on the result of the Senate's vote on the eleventh impeachment article.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.

A letter from Paris states that John C. Breckinridge has returned to that city from the Holy Land, and will soon leave for Quebec.

NEW ORLEANS.

Arrest of Supposed Robbers—The Louisiana Election.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, May 16.—Two Spaniards were arrested last night, having in their possession gold bars of the estimated value $150,000, part of the proceeds of a Mexican robbery.

It is stated that Gen. Buchanan will make no further announcement of the election returns until Congress acts upon the Constitution. It is also stated that the proposed contest of the seat of Mr. Mann, Democratic Congressman elect from the Second District, is abandoned as hopeless.

Collector Kellogg and United States Marshall Herron left last night as delegates to the Chicago Covention.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

"IN THE TREES."

"Airy budding ash-tree,
You have made a throne,
And the sweetest thrush in all the world
Is sitting there alone:
Drawn in tints of tender brown
Against a keen, blue sky,
He sings up and he sings down—
Who can pass him by?

"Through the thin leaves thrilling,
Goes each glittering note;
Hearts of all happy trees are drawn
Into this one bird-throat:
And all the growing blooms of morn
(This music is so strong)
Are reach'd, and blended, and upborne,
And uttered into song.

* * * * * * *

"He pleads, he laughs, he argues,
He shouts to sky and earth;
The wild notes trip each other up
In ecstasies of mirth:
He drinks the azure of the air,
He tosses song about,
Like a girl's tangle of gold hair,
Spray wet and shaken out.

* * * * * * *

"Airy budding ash-tree,
Try to show your power;
Make a leaf for each gay note
He makes in half an hour!
Wild flowers in the grass, be taught
The music of your parts;
Make a bud for each wild thought
He gives to passing hearts."

—The winter has been so severe that in Kansas very many people have found it very difficult to keep the wolf from the door. One man living near Leavenworth seems to have been especially unfortunate in this respect, as one morning not long ago he found eight wolves at his door, and it was with the utmost difficulty, and a rifle, that he persuaded them to leave.

—When the late Marquis of Salisbury died he left behind him a garter. Mr. D'Israeli fixed his longing eyes upon it, and many of the premiers enemies feared he should get it. But the Queen has seen fit to bestow it on the Duke of Marlborough, and so Mr. D'Israeli must wait, in hopes that some other Knight of the Garter, will "hand in his checks" before long.

—When one becomes disgusted with his fellow-men by reading of the buying and selling going on among our highest public men, let him read this noble act of a noble man and feel refreshed:

"On Saturday last as a train on the New York Central Railroad was nearing a mile post, on Green Island, Stephen Heffernan, the fireman, saw a little child sitting on the track and apparently paralyzed by fear. Heffernan, at the risk of his own life, climbed over the engine to the cow-catcher, reached down, snatched her from the track, and lifted her uninjured upon the engine."

—On Saturday we heard some young ladies talking of their happy childhood, and one said that of all things she loved best to roll down hill, and that she wished she could do it again now. To this charming young woman we beg leave to state that Fifth street is at her service, and that any day that she has a mind to try, we shall do our best to have some policemen clear the wagons off from that street, from Grant to Smithfield and what is more, we will with the greatest of pleasure watch her from the GAZETTE office.

—An odd genius in Savannah, Missouri, got an idea of revenge into his head the other day and couldn't get it out again. He went to the house of a Mr. Russell, whom he looked upon as an enemy, and finding no one at home dashed around a good deal, not doing any harm, but promenading through the house like a certain celebrated and noisy wild beast, seeking something or other to devour. At last a brilliant idea flashed upon him, he went up stairs, took out all the clothes belonging to the male part of the family and deliberately—cut all the buttons off. After this able vindication of his honor, he left, satisfied and happy.

MONEY AND GOLD.

The ease in the Money market this afternoon has been greater than any previous day since the opening of the year. The Assistant Treasurer today bought $1,000,000 in Seven-Thirties and sold $500,000 gold compound interest notes, redeemed to extent of $2,100,000 with 3 per cent. certificates, and $760,000 currency: the balance to-night is $101,378,876; the heavy decrease is owing to the cancellation of compound notes. RIVER NEWS.

Both rivers were again receding slowly at this point, with eleven feet in the Monongahela, and eleven feet four inches in the Allegheny. The weather continues cloudy and unsettled, and at this writing the indications are favorable for more rain.

The Delaware, from Nashville, arrived on Saturday, and will reload for that point.

The Maggie Hays, from St. Louis, reached the landing last evening; previous to this, however, she put off a considerable quantity of metal on the opposite side of the river.

The Julia No. 2 arrived from Zanesville yesterday afternoon, being considerably ahead of time. She will leave as usual tomorrow at 4 p. m.

There has not been a single departure aside from the daily packets since Friday.

The St. Marys, Capt. T. C. Sweeny, is the regular packet to-day for Cincinnati, leaving promptly at 5 p. m., and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The towboat Sam Brown sunk three barges, containing 42,000 bushels of coal, about sixty-five miles below Louisville on Friday last. The coal belonged to W. H. Brown, of this city.

The Lorena left St Louis for Pittsburgh on Friday, and the Ezra Porter, from New Orleans, passed Memphis, en route for this port on the same day. The Charleston left Louisville for this port on Friday.

The towboats Simpson Horner, Dick Fulton, Grand Lake and Sam Brown, passed Evansville on Friday, going down stream. The Antelope, from St, Louis to Pittsburgh and the Diamond, from Pittsburgh to New Orleans, were at Cairo the same day.

The Alice V. and Glendale were loading at St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Friday last.

The Argosy was advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Friday. The Glasgow left there for this port on Thursday.

The Kate Robinson was at Cairo on Thursday enroute for St. Louis.

Capt. Ben. Howard has secured the contract for carrying the mails on the odd daos, Tuesdays and Fridays, between Evansville and Cairo, making a daily mail.

The new United States snag-boat J. J. Abert, up the 9th instant had removed ninety-three snags from the Mississippi river, between Cairo and St. Louis. They are all doing good service.

A Louisville s pecial says: Passengers to Memphis, from New Orleans, who came through by rail, report the Lower Mississippi falling slowly below Napoleon, but rising above, with the low lands all submerged, and serious fears aae entertained of an overflow. If the Southern streams should rise, disaster is certain, and it will prove far more damaging to the crops and people than ever before experienced. The Pargoud made the run to Memphis in less than three days, distancing all competitors, and making 7 landings. Freights along the Lower Ohio are very scarce, and boats for New Orleans are taking tobacco, at $3,25 to $3,50 per hhd, and corn at 20c per bag.

We copy the following from the Chicago Post: The fact that parties from the North are building capacious evevators at New Orleans to store western corn, and the other fact, that machinery is now being made for use in that city by the aid of which grain can be cheaply lifted out of barges into the holds of European vessels, are proofs that somebody is in earnest in in the endeavor to divert the trade in cereals from Chicago and the lakes to the Mississippi and the Gulf. Chicago can hardly afford to see this endeavor without inquiring into the probabiilities of success, and such prompt action as that inquiry may compel.

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Thursday, says: The river is steadily rising here: stationary at Dubuque, and falling at Keokuk. The Missouri is rising at Omaha and St. Joseph, with abundance of water for the largest boats. Freight plenty and business brisk on the upper rivers. The Illinois still rising all the way down from Lasalle, covering the low lands, and threatening warehouses and towns with inundation. A Dubuque special reports freight to St. Lous, 6c six cents per sack, yesterday. The Leni Leoti left yesterday for the mountains, and Wauanita, for Pittsburgh.

TO A MAN OF HONOR, his pledged word is as binding and irrevocable as any oath. What, then, shall we think of the four Senators who, on Monday, repudiated both?

IT IS well known at Washington that a son of Judge TRUMBULL, who is a Democrat, has been for ten days past making large bets, through third parties, upon the President's acquittal.

LANE, of Kansas, when he gave symptoms of ratting to JOHNSON, was so appalled by the public indignation which met him on his return home, as to go and hang himself, like JUDAS. To Ross, of Kansas, the people of that State may well say, "Go and do thou likewise."

THE Department of Civil Service is the title of a new Bureau, which a bill reported to the House by Mr. JENCKES, of Rhode Island, on Thursday, proposes to establish. It creates a new Department of the Government, and places the Vice-President in charge. It also establishes a Civil Service Examination Board, and provides for the employment of strictly honest and competent public officials.

THE SEVEN Senatorial Renegades are sold-out Republicans, dishonored Senators and disgraced men. They have shown themselves incapable of political fidelity, patriotic independance or personal truth. They have been guilty, not only of treachery to their official trusts, but of such a lack of personal veracity and honor, as to entitle them richly to be expelled from the Senate, kicked out of the Repuolican party and scorned of all men.

THE Ohio Legislature have enacted a law prohibiting the use of colored or marked ballots in all future elections. All tickets are required to be written or printed in black ink on plain white paper, without any distinctive marks or devices, except the words at the head of the ticket, and penalties are imposed for any attempts to mark a ballot so as to ascertain how the citizen has voted. The design of such legislation is well enough, but all attempt to effectuate it have hitherto proved abortive, and a similar result no doubt awaits this Ohio law.

WHEN the First Andrew, "Old Hickory," left the White House, he returned home to Tennessee, at seventy years of age, with just ninety dollars in money, having spent all his salary and the proceeds of his cotton crop. But his personal integrity was never questioned, and he retired from office, though poor in pelf, with an enviable and unimpeachable reputation as an honest man. The Second Andrew, will, it is reported, leave office a millionaire, but also with the belief that his enormous fortune has been acquired by methods the most discreditable to a public man.

ALL HONOR TO THE REPUBLICAN PRESS OF PENNSYLVANIA, which, with a single milk-and-waterish exception, has presented a bold and compact front to the open enemies and the secret traitors who would strike down the party, even at the expense of their country's repose! Not a Republican journal of the old Keystone State, except as above, in city or country, has failed in its fidelity to the duty of the hour. They have with a unanimous consistency and courage sustained the impeachment and have denounced the treachery which attempted our ruin. Republicanism in this Commonwealth stands up, not only undismayed, but assured of a fresh triumph over the enemies of the Union.

THERE is much force in the suggestion, of a Committee of the Boston Board of Trade, that a law should be passed under which contracts made upon a gold or specie basis may be enforced according to their terms. When the parties prefer to use gold and silver as money in their transactions, they should have the legal right to do so, and their contracts should be interpreted and protected accordingly. Legalise contracts of this character, and with some further provisions for the funding of the legal-tender currency, and for the retention of the specie held by the Treasury and the banks, and the road to a general specie resumption would be abbreviated. Even at that, however, very many would find it a hard road to travel.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The railway trains are filled with delegates, and outsiders, politicians, reporters, editors and office seekers, on their way to the National Convention at Chicago. The travel over the principal trunk lines between the Atlantic States and the Northwest has for a week past been so heavy as to remind the observer of the immense traffic during the war. The concourse at Chicago will be immense, every State and Territory in the Union being fully represented within and without the Convention. Arrangements are completed for the accommodation of this assemblage at the Opera House, which, besides the delegates, will seat but twenty-six hundred persons, all of whom must be admitted on tickets issued by the Committee of Arrangements. Of course a large number of applicants will be disappointed, the distribution being intended to be carefully representative, with just reference to the equal claims of all sections of the country.

As this is the first National Republican Convention since the return of the revolted States to their allegiance, this consideration lends to its assemblage an interest which is intensified by the critical state of affairs at Washington. As to the Presidency, but one name will be recognized by the Republicans, their hearty acclamations attesting the unanimity of the popular voice for one man who is no less the hope of the land in its grave political emergency to-day than he was its trusted and victorious leader in arms. The interesting deliberations of the Convention will concern the selection of his associate on the ticket, and a wise decision upon the questions of principle which are to be made political issues in the canvass. As to either of these points, we do not propose to speculate now. Suspending our judgment until the results of the deliberation shall be known, we may remark that we have a sincere confidence in the sagacious discretion and uncompromising patriotism which will rule the great Council of the Republican party.

We have made complete arrangements for a full daily report, from the most reliable and authoritative sources, not only of the official transactions, but also of the preliminary and accompanying developments of sentiment among the politicians to be gathered at Chicago. The readers of the GAZETTE may safely count upon the perusal of interesting special dispatches up to the latest moment each day. On our first page we publish the first of the series.

IMPEACHMENT—AND ITS ENEMIES.

The result of impeachment is partially revealed. The Senate, on Saturday, technically acquitted the President on the eleventh article, by a vote of 35 to 19, the charge failing to secure a two-thirds vote in its favor. No other articles were voted on, the Senate then adjourning to the 26th instant. As the eleventh article was considered the most certain of adoption, several Senators who finally voted against it having assured their former Republican friends that they would support it, it was first taken up as a test of the sense of the Senate and of the good faith of the individual Senators referred to. They proved false to their personal honor, as well as to their political affiliations and to the demands of the country, and ensured a technical decision that ANDREW JOHNSON has been guilty of no impeachable offense as charged in that article. The remaining articles will doubtless be disposed of when the Senate again assembles, but there is no probability that a conviction will follow on any of them.

We accept the result as a Constitutional release of the accused from that charge. Our opinion of his guilt remains unchanged. The Senate nearly two to one has affirmed it and the country will regard it as established to a moral certainty. Why it has failed of a Constitutional declaration, in a body which has been hitherto regarded as composed of forty-two Republicans and twelve Democrats, is a question upon which commentary is proper, and, indeed, due to the great party which elected this overwhelming majority of the members. The vote by which Messrs. Fowler, Fessenden, Grimes, Henderson, Ross, Trumbull and Van Winkle separated themselves from their former political associates, challenges and receives the severest scrutiny of a disappointed and indignant people.

Three of these Senators, FOWLER, FESSENDEN and TRUMBULL, voted on the 13th of January that the President's reasons for the suspension of STANTON were insufficient.

Three of them, ROSS, TRUMBULL and VAN WINKLE, voted, on the 21st of February, that the President had no power to remove Mr. STANTON and appoint THOMAS ad interim.

Two of them, FESSENDEN and TRUMBULL, had, without expressly declaring that they should vote for the impeachment which the House had brought in consequence of the votes in January and February above cited, steadily, up to Monday last, encouraged the belief among their most intimate Republican associates, that they would, in their verdict, sustain the position which they had thus taken as Senators.

Four of them, FOWLER, HENDERSON, Ross and VAN WINKLE, had, on various occasions during the trial and since the arguments closed, given their personal, explicit assurances to Republican friends, that they should vote for conviction on this eleventh article.

Of all the seven, Mr. GRIMES alone has, from the first, made known his hostility to impeachment, and declared his intention to vote for acquittal.

It is apparent, therefore, that these men have falsified their Senatorial records, have dishonored their personal engagements, have become recreant to their political faith, and have again plunged the Republic into that disorder and peril from which it was about to emerge, and that, for treachery so basely monstrous, they must have had reasons and motives not patent on the surface. We are asked to believe that it is simply a highly honorable sense of judicial responsibility which has led to this extraordinary change of position by these Senators. We are admonished that it is indecorous to impeach or impugn the personal or official integrity of men who had taken a solemn oath to act as upright and impartial judges. There are politicians and journals to denounce, as indecent and revolutionary, the indignant expressions of a deceived and outraged people against these men who have betrayed them.

But the facts—which prove against these recreants, that they have dishonorably, treacherously, corruptly and wickedly prostituted their votes to personal and political ends—are too potent and stubborn to be resisted. Ross pledged himself in writing to Republican Senators on Thursday that he would vote for four articles, including the eleventh. HENDERSON'S pledge to vote for this article or resign his seat, with his dishonorable repudiation of that engagement, are already before the country. FOWLER, who had been clamorous for impeachment hitherto, since the arguments on this trial closed pledged himself repeatedly and emphatically in favor of conviction. VAN WINKLE, on Thursday, finished a written opinion for conviction on the eleventh article and exhibited it to three Radical Senators. Of these four men, Ross and VAN WINKLE have become traitors through the influence of TRUMBULL, FOWLER has yielded, it is said, to a woman's arts, and HENDERSON has joined with TRUMBULL and FESSENDEN in the desperate and shameless intrigue which Judge CHASE has organized, of which full details are given in another column, and of the existence of which there is no longer room for doubt.

This intrigue has its other than political uses. There is believed to exist at Washington, what is called a whisky "ring," a combination of thieves, among men of all parties in high official stations, who are direct participants in the most gigantic frauds upon the revenue, colluding with the manufacturers to screen rascality in the Revenue Bureau, to stifle investigation and to divide the enormous profit among the partners.

This "ring" is said to include the President, heads of Departments, Senators and Congressmen. The change of administration to result from a conviction, would have swept the rascals out of office and broken up the most stupendous scheme of plunder which ever flourished in the Treasury. Of course, a change would be prevented if money could buy votes. It is known that money has bought them, and that the President could have had more if he needed them. We have the names of Senators, who were not needed to make up the Nineteen of last Saturday, who would have come, if called upon, to the rescue of their business-partner at the White House.

Thus, political intrigues, official corruptions and personal dishonesty have accomplished a result which a much abused people are invited to accept as a conscientious verdict, of high-minded Senators incapable of political or personal influence and shaping their votes only by the pure dictates of Justice. How long will this country submit to be thus robbed, disgraced, abused and destroyed? And is it not high time that the pure and patriotic Republican party should declare its divorce from such men and their apologists?

THE PLEIADES OF TREACHERY.

Treason is the highest crime of a civil nature man can commit; it is the most debasing which stains the soul. The man who betrays the confidence of his fellow men, abuses the sacred trust with which charged, proves false to the principles of truth, honor and honesty, and not only debauches his own name and fame, but declares himself an apostate unworthy recognition or place in the world. Much worse is the man who calmly barters away, for much or little filthy lucre, the time-honored principles he has held, and deliberately sells himself, his conscience and actions to the enemy,—aye, ten thousand times worse is he than the traitor who clings to a theory and hoists the banner of revolt to try by force of arms to establish that which he wrongfully deems a righteous cause. It was treachery defying the authority of an Almighty God which drove myriads out of heaven into the bottomless pit. It was a betrayal of trust that drove Adam from the garden of delight and entailed, even till this day, upon his posterity the mark of an Omnipotent Being's wrath. It was a wicked betrayal which drove, in terrible despair, Judas Iscariot from the side of the Saviour of Mankind, and turned the shining, blood-stained silver reward of his perfidy into burning coals to crisp his conscience even unto the ignominy of self-destruction. The annals of history are darkened with the black deeds of the betrayers of principles and governments, and from away down in the shadowy past, come up in all their freshness, to excite one universal echo of execration, tidings of the infidelity of those who lived on God's earth to betray their fellow men. Modern times present additional names to the odious list, for "history repeats itself."

All countries have those amongst their citizens superstitious enough to believe in the significance of seven as a number. Signifiing "to fill," events and disasters have singularly and coincidently been made conform to its omnious character. America has now her memorable seven. The seven Senators who, occupying high place in the counsels of the nation, enjoying the confidence of an entire people, and charged with the performance of a grave and extraordinary duty, cowered, flinched and betrayed the loyal masses by declaring the innocence of a perfidious President. Here is America's addition to the roll of the world's betrayers:

1. The treachery of EDMUND G. ROSS, of Kansas, was wholly unlooked for. Representing the great and growing young State of Kansas, where a love for Republican institutions has been so tenderly cherished and nourished, he has blackened his name with odium and stands before the people a renegade and traitor worthy the detestation of those enemies to his country whose purposes he has so faithfully served and those friends whose confidence he has debauched. Is it not singular that, in a crisis pregnant with so much of vital importance to the principles underlying the foundation of our very Government, an act of treachery should mark the brow of a representative from a young State in whose lap lingered the causes which led to the recent terrible war for the Union? Stabbed by the Senator of Kansas, whose infancy was so closely watched and guarded by the friends of liberty, the loyal people are overwhelmed with the ingratitude of this man. When History comes to write his epitaph let it be this: "He lived one day too long for the good of his name. May his record sink to the grave, and out of charity let no man resurrect it." He was elected to succeed the self-murderer LANE in 1867, and his term will expire in 1871. He was born in 1826 at Ashland, Ohio, and is a printer by trade.

2. JAMES W. GRIMES owes New Hampshire for his place of birth in 1816. He is like the veritable old Grimes of brass-button notoriety, dead, at least so politically speaking. As a Republican he was elected to represent Iowa in 1865. This is his second term, and it will expire in 1871.

3. LYMAN TRUMBULL was born in Connecticut in 1813. He is upon his third term from Illinois, and unless by resignation or kind dispensation of Providence, he will not retire into private life before 1873. Enough has been already said of this man's betrayal, as he was presumed to occupy a plane so elevated as to be beyond the reach of those who interfere with the course of Justice.

4. JOHN B. HENDERSON, who occupied the position foreshadowed by SWIFT, when he wrote

> "A strong dilemma in a desperate case:
> To act with infamy, or quit the place," and who so readily accepted the first alternative, was born in Virginia in 1826. It is a matter of congratulation that his public career will close on March 4th, 1869. He mis-represents Missouri.

5. WILLIAM PITT FESSENDEN, of Maine, was born in New Hampshire in 1806, and his term will not expire until 1871. It is possible that he will be so overwhelmed with the ignominy that he brought upon himself by his base betrayal, that he will yield to the voice of his constituents and resign the high position he has disgraced.

6. PETER G. VAN WINKLE, of West Virginia, is a native of New York City, born in 1808. He will wake up like his illustrious namesake, RIP VAN WINKLE, to find ere long that his was a disastrous sleep while he should have been guarding the cradle of liberty and the principles of Truth, Right and Justice held by the constituents who elevated him into power. His term will expire in 1871.

7. JOSEPH S. FOWLER, of Tennessee, is a native of Steubenville, Ohio. He is devotedly attached to JOHNSON, and held office under him while he was Governor of Tennessee. He was born in 1822, and his term of service will expire in 1871.

THE DUTY OF DELEGATES.

Republicans, in their National Council this week, will, we are confident, exhibit fresh proof of their meritorious title to the confidence of all true friends of the Union. They will not be found wanting in sympathy with the honest indignation which stirs the depths of the popular heart, nor in a wise recognition of the imperative duty of disowning all responsibility for the treachery which has aimed, with deadly intent, a stroke at the party's life, but, thank Heaven! fell short of its purpose.

Since many of these delegates left their homes for Chicago, the fears which had been previously entertained have been fully realized in the consummated treachery at Washington. Deep as was the interest and stern as was the indignant sentiment with which their constituents regarded the possibility of a betrayal, we assure the gentlemen now at Chicago that they have carried with them but an imperfect appreciation of the feeling which, on Saturday afternoon and since, pervades and burns in loyal hearts throughout this and other States. What we know of Pennsylvania, we have good reason to believe of Republicans elsewhere. And we say to the delegates that the usurpations and crimes of the Executive, detestable as they are, are held to be insignificant in comparison to the personal dishonor, the official duplicity and the political faithlessness of the seven recreant Republicans who have sold themselves to save the great criminal from his merited punishment.

The loyal masses of the people demand of the delegates the highest official expression of their condemnation for treason in any department of the Government. It is demanded that the Convention shall place the Republican party solemnly on record not only as detesting an usurping President, but as disowning its fellowship forever with the renegades who, by a corrupt acquittal, against law and evidence, have betrayed their country, their party and their Senatorial oaths for a price, and, so gilding a treble guilt, should be expelled from public confidence forever as participants in the crimes which they have abetted after the fact. Such an expression is the plainest duty of the delegates. They will know how to perform it, wisely and satisfactorily.

THE PLAN OF A NEW PARTY.

A Chief Justice who is capable of perverting his official station to promote a personal intrigue, a President whom a large majority of Congress and the country believe to be a criminal, seven Senators all of whom have clearly proven themselves incapable of official or personal consistency and truth, a half-score of Conservative journals, and the whisky ring, under Treasury patronage, which owns and controls the whole cabal, are just now engaged in a project for establishing a new political party. The alliance is remarkable, but the results will not correspond. Our most exalted Judge has struck hands with a combination of notorious rascals for their mutual profit, one contributing the prestige of his high station and the ostensible respectability of his Senatorial following, and the other partners putting in their thievish wits and all the cash capital required, the joint concern expecting to control the market. High station and low rascality, Senatorial virtue and the principles of the penitentiary, lofty pretensions and unutterably vile practices, Blifil and Black George working together for a political "corner"! Query? How many months before the partners will fall to cutting each other's throats?

A RELIEF IN PROSPECT.

We have always regretted that the Philadelphia Convention of 1866 did not more perfectly accomplish its work. The proper result of that abortive intrigue should have been the complete purgation of the Republican party. Instead of merely sloughing off DOOLITTLE, DIXON and a few others of less preeminence, with here and there a journal or two, we would have been made rich by the loss of all that was unsound in our organization. That wretched fiasco had the effect of but a partial relief for Republicanism, and we have since continued to be afflicted with a set of bread and butter Conservative politicians, and about a score of newspapers, none of which are capable of fidelity in a pinch, and all of them elements of weakness and disorganization. Even some who were inclined to follow their natural instincts and desert us, have since remained clinging to the verge of our party, or, to change the figure, caught hold of loose ropes and have since dragged at the stern of the Republican ship, just keeping their heads above water and bawling for help to reach the quarter deck. It is this sort of gentry who have the "cheek" to offer their advice to the party at this juncture, who clamor for Senatorial integrity, who gravely lament the perils of Radicalism, who are oracular as to our political duty, and who are so noisy for GRANT that simpletons who forget their past history might believe them sincere. As to all these fellows, we are quite content, for our own part, to be plainly understood. We want none of their counsel or their coöperation. We beg them no longer to afflict the Republican party with their presence. We ask them to go, and not wait to be kicked overboard. The traitors and their apologists are alike offensive to us. Their room is better than their company. We prefer, if need be, a minority on principle to a majority made up of such treacherous and unsound rubbish.

Let us be thankful for the prospect now opening before us that the new party, to be organized by CHASE and the whisky-ring, will recruit largely from those fellows who have plagued us, and let us also hope that this week will give to the party a National platform rugged enough to hurt beyond cure the feelings of such Conservatives as may remain, and so complete their expulsion and our own purification.

CITY WATER LOAN.

As a safe and highly remunerative investment we know of nothing which should prove more attractive to the capitalist than the "Pittsbugh Water Loan" of $250,000 which is advertised for proposals by our efficient Controller, THOMAS STEEL, Esq.

These are coupon bonds, bearing interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually at the office of the City Treasurer, and the bonds are to be paid off in twenty-five years from April 1, 1868. By Act of Assembly the revenue of the water works is pledged for the payment of the bonds and coupons, and the latter are by law made receivable for water rents, and the act authorizing the loan creates a sinking fund of not less than two per cent. of all bonds which may have been issued in pursuance of said act. The Councils are bound to appropriate annually a sufficient sum for interest, and not less than two per cent. of all bonds which may have been issued to go into the sinking fund. The proceeds of these bonds can only be used for the extension and improvement of the city water works, which will increase the revenue, while at present it is far greater than is required to insure the payment of interest and retirement of the bonds. The bonds are exempt from State, county and city tax, which, together with all the foregoing advantages, make them the most desirable security offered to the public. Bids under par will not be considered.

IT IS the fashion, in other quarters of the world besides Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas and West Virginia, to consider men who violate their pledged words of honor as unworthy of personal regard, and plain people call them liars. Will it be remarkable, then, if the contempt of all honorable men everywhere should fall upon the untruthful Senators from those States?

A WASHINGTON special of Friday says: The interest felt in the Coburn and McCool prize fight was eclipsed this afternoon by an affair in front of the Whitney House. Gov. Hamilton was met by the Hon. Samuel J. Randall, of Philadelphia, Democratic Representative, who inquired whether he was Jack Hamilton of Texas. "I am, Sir," replied the Judge. "Then you are a —— scoundrel," said Sam. Upon this invitation to fight, the Judge acted at once with a hickory cane, and before the bystanders could separate the gentlemen the hickory cane and the Hon. Samuel J. Randall were both badly injured. The Radicals deeply sympathize with the cane, and they talk of a subscription for another. The Democrats condole with Mr. Randall, who, it is said, was so badly hurt that his friends had to take him away in a carriage.

A CHEYENNE correspondent of the Omaha Republican, writing on the 4th inst., says: "The Union Pacific railroad track was completed to Laramie city, four miles west of Fort Sanders, on last Saturday. When the first train entered the settlement, quite a time was had in honor of the event. Yesterday, in order, I suppose, to inaugurate and celebrate the event, they killed one man and the "vigilantes" hung four men to-day. So wags the world, and so progress our Western cities."

A COMPANY of miners were recently prospecting on the Rio Honda, a tributary of the Rio Grande, in New Mexico, where they struck some old Spanish diggings which were worked several years ago, and on opening an old shaft they found the skeleton of a man standing upright with a mining tool in his hand, and in his pan a tolerable prospect. The Indian traditions stated that he was one of a large body of Spanish miners who were buried alive there while at work.

RUSSIA, it is rumored, is preparing for a fresh attack upon Turkey, not yet having abandoned the design of establishing her capital at Constantinople. A Russian army, consisting of 40,000 cavalry and 300,000 infantry and artillery, has been sent to the frontier of the Danubian Principalities. On the other hand, the Sultan has marched an army of observation, composed of 35,000 men, to Shumlah, where there were many severe contests in the Crimean war.

Meeting of the City Republican Executive Committee.

A special meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of the city was held Saturday, at 2 o'clock, P. M., in the office of C. C. Tayler, Esq., Grant street.

The meeting was called to order by Alderman Joseph A. Butler of the 6th ward, Chairman, and Mr. R. N. Leonard, appointed Secretaty.

The Chairman stated that the object of the meeting was to request the Committee appointed by Councils to district the city, to make their report as soon as convenient.

Mr. Brush moved that the Committee on Districts, appointed by City Councils, be requested to make their report at its earliest convenience, so as to enable the Executive Committee of the city to appoint their ward committees. The motion was adopted.

Mr. Wilson moved that a committee be appointed to secure a room for the City Executive Committee.

The motion was adopted and Messrs. Wilson, Tomlinson and Leonard appointed.

On motion of Mr. Irwin, Mr. Joseph Kaye, of the Fifth ward, was added to the Committee, vice Richard Thompson, who has removed from the ward, and Mr. Thompson was continued on the Committee.

On motion, Samuel T. Paisley, from the Ninth ward, was added to the Committee.

On motion of Mr. Wilson, the Committee adjourned to meet at the office of the Street Commissioners at two o'clock p. m. Saturday, 23d inst.

Lutheran National Synod.

HARRISBURG, May 14.—On motion of Rev. Conrad, of Philadelphia, the President was authorized to appoint, at his leisure, a Committee of three to revise the liturgy of the Church.

Rev. Dr. Brown, of Gettysburg, from the Committee on the Withdrawals of the Synods of Pennsylvania and Minnesota, and the English Synod of Ohio and parts of the Pittsburgh and Illinois Synods, together with a part of the Ministerium of New York, reported that such withdrawal had not injured the church, but that it had taken from it all its weakness. These Synods had never cordially coöperated with the General Synod and its march was now onward. These Synods had repudiated the liberal and conservative portion of the General Synod, and were aiming at the symbolic and the ritualistic.

The withdrawing Synods had brought false accusations against the General Synod and were responsible to God for their acts. The report, after some debate, was laid on the table, and all action on the matter cancelled, because it was deemed impolitic to reopen any dispute or let the world view the division in the Lutheran ranks.

Rev. A. R. Howbert, of Bellefontaine, Ohio, offered a series of resolutions of good fellowship with the Orthodox Congregationalists of Ohio, and authorizing an exchange of delegations with them. Adopted.

Rev. Mr. Stuckenberg, of Pittsburgh, offered a series of resolutions denying a charge made that the Lutherans had excluded from their communion other Christians, or denied an exchange of pulpits with other denominations, and urging a cordial coöperation with all the associations, societies, churches and organizations in the United States for the spread of the Gospel and the education of the Church of Christ. Adopted.

The Convention will adjourn this evening to meet in Cincinnati on the second Tuesday in May, 1869.

Railroad Bridge Washed Away.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

AUGUSTA, ME., May 16.—The trestle bridge, one hundred feet long, on the Somerset and Kennebec Railroad, was washed away last night. A land slide occurred on the Kennebec and Portland Railroad line, destroying portions of the car shed and platform.

—The Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad have resolved to increase the capital stock of the company twenty-five per cent., which will make the capital of the company nearly twenty-seven millions. The Board declare that the exra money is needed to develop the company's traffic.

BEWARE

Of that remorseless and insidious destroyer of the human race,

CONSUMPTION.

Check and conquer its advances, lest you fall the victim. When attacked with any of its preliminary symptoms, no matter how slight, be on your guard and promptly use the remedy ere too late.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Is an old, well tried, certain and standard remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain or Oppression in the Chest or Lungs, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. Its sure and certain efficacy has been fully tested and endorsed for many years by numbers of well-known citizens in our midst, and their certificates are on record. Have you a cough which has gradually increased from a slight one to one of permanent standing? Lose no time, but procure a bottle of DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP, which will surely relieve you of the dangerous premonitory symptoms and effect a permanent cure. Do you spend miserable days and long sleepless nights of torture and pain from attacks of Asthma or Difficulty of Breathing? Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will act promptly, relieve you, and gradually restore you to your freedom of pain, and sound, pleasant sleep. Are your lungs sore and irritated, indicating inflammation? This Cough Syrup is pleasant and agreeable to take, while powerful and sure in its action. For sale by all Druggists in the country.

AVOID POISON.

Invalid reader, do you know what nine-tenths of the bitter compounds you are solicited by the proprietors to accept as universal panaceas are composed of? Give heed for a moment. They are manufactured from unpurified alcohol, containing a considerable portion of fusil oil—a poison almost as deadly as prussic acid. The basis of the regular tinctures of the Materia Medica is the same. No amount of "herbal extracts" can overcome the bad tendency of this pernicious element. The essence of sound Rye, thoroughly rectified, is the only stimulant which can be safely used as a component of a tonic, alterative and anti-bilious medicine, and HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the only medicinal preparation in the world in which this article is used as an ingredient. Hence the extraordinary effects of this great specific. It gives strength without producing excitement. No other tonic does this. All the ordinary Bitters flush the face and affect the brain. HOSTETTER'S BITTERS diffuses an agreeable calm through the nervous system, promotes digestion and produces sleep. No other tonic so quickly revives the exhausted physical energies, restores the appetite and removes the gloom and depression which always accompanies weakness of the bodily powers. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions, and which bring paleness to the cheek and suffering to the brow. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure, restores the system to high health, and necessarily proves a valuable adjunct to the digestive organs. A trial is all that is needed to establish it in the confidence of the skeptic.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,
Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. Of all these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

CITY OF PITTSBURGH WATER LOAN.

PROPOSALS FOR

$250,000

OF THE

Bonds of the "Water Extension Loan,"

Will be received at the office of the CITY CONTROLLER, Fourth street.

These are COUPON BONDS, bearing interest at the rate of SEVEN PER CENT. per annum, payable semi-annually, at the office of the City Treasurer, and the Bonds are to be paid off in twenty-five years from April 1, 1868.

By Act of Assembly the Revenue of the Water Works is pledged for the payment of the Bonds and Coupons, and the latter are by law made receivable for Water Rents, and the Act authorizing the Loan creates a SINKING FUND of not less than two per cent. of all bonds which may have been issued in pursuance of said Act. The Councils are bound to appropriate annually a sufficient sum for interest, and not less than two per cent. of all bonds which may have issued to go into the Sinking Fund.

The proceeds of these Bonds can only be used for the extension and improvement of the City Water Works, which will increase the revenue, while at present it is far greater than is required to insure the payment of interest and retirement of the Bonds.

The Bonds are EXEMPT FROM STATE, COUNTY and CITY TAX, which, together with all the foregoing advantages, make the Bonds the most desirable security offered to the public.

Bids under par will not be considered.

By order of Finance Committee.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, May 16, 1868.

The acquittal of the President on the eleventh article of impeachment, and the impression that he will be acquitted altogether, is given as the cause of the decline of gold to-day to 139¼. The market opened at 138¾, advanced to 139⅞, and closed at 139¼. Gold may be said to be now about equally distant from the extremist of a rise, 143 being admitted as the limit in the upward course, and 137½ as the lowest point to which it is likely to decline in case public opinion should judge favorably of the disposition the impeachment court will make of the President's case. The worst that might happen would be the acquittal of the President and a continues session of Congress until next March.

Government bonds are firm, and the disbursements for compound interest notes is likely to stimulate investments, and will ultimately advance prices of Governments. The great advantage our national securities offer in Europe are the convenient size of small bonds; a one hundred dollar bond represents 250 florins, or about 522 francs, which is a capital for those who seek small investments for their savings. If the Pacific Railroad bonds were of such a convenient size, no doubt Europeon bankers would take the whole issue of them at once for distribution, but they are going out fast enough to the disadvantage of our monied men.

The depression in the Express stocks seems to be at an end, and the discouraging articles in the New York Herald have served the bears very well. The Herald has worked wonders lately for the bears, but its predictions are not to be relied upon.

Money easy at 8 to 9 per cent.; some inquiry is made for local stocks at heavy discounts, but little is either offered nor really wanted; a few shares of either will stop the inquiry for them.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Gold, 139¼; 1881 bonds, 113; 1862 5-20s, 109; 1864 do, 107; 1865 do, 107¼; Consols, 109⅛; 10-40s, 103½; 7-30s, 107¾.

Railroads—Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 84⅝; Fort Wayne, 107¼; North Western, common 67; North Western—preferred, 77½; New York Central, 128¾; Erie, 69¼; Old Southern, 86¼; Ohio & Mississippi, 29½; Merchants Union Express, 28¼; Western Union Telegraph, 38¼. Mining Shares—Corydon, 25; Quartz Hill, 95; Quicksilver, 31¼.

—The Cincinnati Commercial, of Friday, says: It is about time for the New York money market to show signs of preparation for the Chicago convention, and exhibit how very necessary it is that party caucuses shall declare in favor of some clever device by which to get up a little financial exhilaration as a part of the programme for a political campaign. There have already been rumors that Congress is to do what it can in that way, but there is no evidence that such a measure has any living shape in that quarter yet, and it is certainly to be hoped that it will not. The story has doubtless been fabricated merely to have a temporary influence on the market, or was thrown out as a straw to catch the drift of the popular breeze.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, May 16, 1868.

The general markets have been rather quiet during the past week and devoid of excitement, and while the tendency generally has been toward lower prices, there have been no remarkable changes, one way or the other.

APPLES—Green apples are scarce and firm but unchanged; regular sales at $6 to $7 per barrel, as to quality.

APPLE BUTTER—May be quoted at 80c to $1 per gallon, according to quallty—the great proportion of the sales being at 80 to 90c.

ASHES—Quiet and unchanged, though there is a steady demand.

BUTTER—Is steady, with a demand fully up to the supply; sales of prime to choice Roll at 35 to 37c, and print at 38c to 40c.

EGGS—Were in better demand to-day, and under the influence of diminished arrivals, prices were a shade higher; 19c was was regarded as the ruling price.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat is scarce and in good milling demand; sales of prime Red at $2,70. White may be quoted at 5 8c higher. Corn is very dull, with a supply largely in excess of the demand; we now quote at $1,00 to $1,05, on wharf and track. Oats steady and in light supply; sales on wharf and track 80c and 83 to 85c, in store. Rye is quiet and nominal at $1,95 to $2. Last sale of Barley reported was at $2,43.

POTATOES—Peach Blows are in limited supply, and may be quoted steady at $1,50 to $1,55 per bushel.

CHEESE—New Western Reserve is quoted at 15 to 16c.

DRIED FRUIT—There is an improved demand for Apples, but prices are unchanged at 7 to 7¼c. Peaches scarce and steady at 13½ to 14c.

SALT—Sale of 100 bbls, to the trade, at $1,80. Small sales in store at $2.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is in demand at $2,55 and but little offering. No demand whatever for Timothy or Clover.

HAY—Baled Hay is very dull, and prices cannot fairly be quoted above $20 to $23 per ton. Wagon Hay is selling at $20 to $27 per ton.

MILL FEED—Last sales were at $1,65 to $1,70 for Bran, and $2,15 to $2,20 for Middlings.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet and unchanged at 14½c for Shoulders; 16½ to 17c for Ribbed and 18½c to 19c for Clear Sides; 19½ to 20c for Plain, and 20½ to 21c for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 19½c to 20c. Mess Pork, $29,50 to $30,00.

LARD OIL—Unchanged at $1,23 to $1,25 for No. 2, and $1,53 to $1,55 for No. 1.

FLOUR—Is quiet but steady with a fair loeal demand, and prices are maintained; we quote at $11,00 to $11,75 for Spring Wheat; $12,50 to $13,00 for Winter Wheat, and $14 to $16 for fancy brands. Rye Flour firm at $10 to $10,25.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, May 16, 1868.

CRUDE—The Crude market was considerably excited during the early part of the week, but yesterday and to-day it has been quiet and a little weak, and, compared with Monday, Tuesday ond Wednesday, prices are a shade lower. On these days spot oil sold readily at 12c, while yesterday, it was offered and sold at 11c; to-day, however, there was a stronger feeling in consequence of the fact that there was but very little spot oil in market, and we are cognizant of eleven cents having been offered and refused. The sales were as follows: 2,000 bbls for May, sellers's option, at 11c; 5,000—1,000 each from August to December, at 12c, and 3,000 to be delivered between now and October, buyer's option, at $4,50 per bbl at Oil City. The demand is mainly for spot oil, and it is somewhat scarce at present, this accounts for the firmness noticeable to-day.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil has also been very much excited and unsettled during the past week, and at one time May oil sold up to 33 and 34c, but since then, however, it has receded to 31½ and 32c, with little or nothing doing. June may be quoted at 29½ to 30c, and July at 30½c. All the year, buyer's option, is nominal at 32½c, the last sale reported having been made at that figure. There are no new developments in regard to the expected "corner;" the shipments were not as large as usual to-day, but this was owing doubtless to a want of cars; it is believed, however, that sufficient oil, with what has already gone, will be got forward within the next few days to prevent a "corner," and if so the movement, of course, will be a failure, and may be productive of unpleasant consequences to those concerned. There are those, however, who allege that a "corner" is inevitable; that there are some thirty-five thousand barrels of oil to be delivered in Philadelphia between this and the 22d and 23d, and that it is impossible to deliver that amount of oil there in the time above specified. The situation is very interesting to outsiders, and is being watched closely by many who are not engaged in the business.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil by river and rail reported to-day were as follows:

Leech & Wood	2000	Model Ref. Co.	1500
Fisher & Bro.	1000	D. M. Edgerton	950
Clark & Sumner.	640
Total			6090

New York Dry Goods Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 16.—The downward tendency in cotton goods has been arrested by the advance in raw material and there is now more steadiness apparent, but the market is still devoid of animation. THE SOUTHERN FREEDMEN.

The Contributions From Pittsburgh and Vicinity—An Interesting Letter.

TO THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE: A few months ago an appeal was made through your columns and through the other city papers in behalf of the destitute and suffering freed people. A few responded. Money came from Mrs. Lydia Irish, New Castle, and from or through Mrs. F. R. Brunot and Mrs. Major Wade, of Allegheny; Mrs. Jas. Irwin, of Lawrenceville; Rev. Dr. McKenney, of Sewickly and others. Clothing came from the Ladies' Aid Society of New Castle through Rev. Mr. Wylie and Mr. Mets; also from Sewickly through Dr. Bittenger and Mrs. Gazzan. Seeds and little onions of the very best kind came from the Harmony Society at Economy. A huge box weighing 320 pounds, in addition to the third or fourth annual donation of $1,000 for our freedmen's schools. Seeds have also been contributed by Messrs. Dr. Laukritt & Son, of Philadelphia, J. Knox of this city and others. A number of boxes of shoes have been purchased and forwarded to different points to the great comfort and relief of many. I have just received a letter from one of our teachers at Florence, Alabama, alike creditable to his head and heart. As the shortest way to let the friends who have done these good deeds know what has become of their donations, I send you a copy of Mr. Wasing's letter. It will be interesting to some to know that Mr. Wasing is a young colored man of great promise, one of such pleasant manners and of so much worth, that while loved and almost idolized by the colored people, he has been uniformly treated with respect and courtesy by the leading and most respectable white citizens, including such gentlemen as Governor Patton, Judge Posey, W. McClester and others of the leading men in Northern Alabama.

J. S. TRAVILLI,
General Agent Freedmen's Aid Commission of Western Pennsylvania, &c.

FLORENCE, ALA., April 21, 1868.

DEAR MR. TRAVELLI—I have been so pressed for time that, until now, it has been impossible to write you expressing thanks to the friends at Economy for the seeds. They were distributed among the poor irrespective of color; but, of course, nearly all went to the freedmen. The little onions, particularly, were really a precious gift. No more acceptable donation at this time could have been made. They were really fine; the finest I believe I ever saw. There were very few to be had here, even for money; I could have sold all of them for fifty cents per quart.

I could give many interesting facts connected with the distribution of these seeds, but scarcely deem it necessary to say more than that they were received by the freedmen with many most heartfelt thanks. Here, as elsewhere in the South, there are scores of old people whose best years were spent in unrequited toil, and whose vitality withered away under the blighting curse of slavery, and who now are not only poor and destitute, but have not the physical strength to do hard labor. Those of the freedmen who are strong and hearty do work, and, of course, with all the discouragements and hard times down here, do make out to get enough to eat and some kind of clothes to wear.

And here let me say that when I say hard times, I mean hard times indeed. The most industrious and shrewdest of men find it difficult to live here, so entirely prostrate is the South at this time. A "live Yankee" from Vermont would need all his wits to thrive here; and if before six months he did not have recourse to the manufacture of "wooden nutmegs" and "wooden hams," his integrity might be regarded as having stood a severe test.

Many recipients of the seeds, some of them old persons of from fifty to ninety years of age, walked in from the country, eight and ten miles, to get them. One old fellow who goes by the sobriquet of "uncle Gib," deserves special attention. He is the most pitiable bundle of deformed humanity I ever saw. Rheumatic diseases and the abuses of slavery have left him what he is, the mere wreck of a man. He is about eighty years old and has no kindred in the world that he knows of. A family almost as poor as himself, allow him to stay with them, about six miles in the country. It takes uncle Gib two days to make the journey to town and back, a fact over which the old gentleman sometimes feels merry. Hearing that I had some clothing and seeds, he came to see me. Unfortunately the clothing was all gone, but I gave him some of the seed, and little onions and two dollars in money, Upon receiving the gifts his demonstrations of joy were what we might have expected had he drawn "Pike's Opera House." Uncle Gib said to me that they must be mighty good people "up dar" to think "nuff of we poor black folks as to send us all dese tings." He says he is only a poor old "broken stick" anyhow, and only waits "till de good Lord calls for him."

And thus I might go on mentioning other cases about or quite as sad. One woman whom I aided, claims to have been born free in Georgetown, D. C. From her statements and from her familiarity with things about Washington, as well as from the fact that two or three cases of kidnapping were exposed here, it is not unlikely that her story is true. There are two others here that tell me they were born free in the border States, and that they were stolen away while young.

I am not sure that in me you have here a wise disposer of your charities. The exhibition of wretchedness which one is compelled to see among the freedmen is harrowing. I am by no means sure that I have not frequently, after listening to the sad story and beholding the suffering, given two nandfuls, when a judicious regard for the welfare of all, should have prompted me to give but one.

And here it is in point to say it gives me much pleasure in walking about the village and vicinity to notice the thriving little garden patches of the poor, many of which I know to have been planted with the seeds sent to us by the friends at Economy and elsewhere.

For the aid sent during the past winter and spring, there is but one feeling among these freed people, and that is earnest, pure and prayerful gratitude.

They regard the school as their greatest blessing, and it makes them sad to think that this year may witness its close under present auspices. I must confess I share their sadness. Under any other direction the school must necessarily undergo great changes, and in all probability changes for the worse, even if any school at all could be kept up, should our society withdraw. Indeed, such is the continued scarcity and destitution, that I do not see the remotest prospect of a school here next year unless Providence puts it into the hearts of northern friends to continue their aid here. I hardly stop here to say that the continued poverty of the freedmen is not surprising when we consider the general description of affairs throughout the entire South.

With the close of the present school year, of course, I look forward to return North, or to remove somewhere where I can make a living; with the start we now have to give up everything would be sad indeed. By the first of June, 1869, I could send out from this school at least twenty teachers of primary schools. I merely state these facts, not knowing what influence they may have in securing help for another year. I have already written more than I intended. Hoping you are well, I remain,

Yours, truly,
OSCAR M. WARING.

Here is part of another letter:

April 11, 1868.

In distributing the shoes I am meeting with facts of an interesting character. I have shod old servants of Generals Jackson and Coffee. The Coffees lived a few miles from this place. But I did not start to tell you about generals and big men.

An interesting scene occurred yesterday. A little white boy, about twelve years old, with his two brothers, nice, intelligent looking children as I ever saw, came to my room for shoes. I could not believe they were very needy, so I refused them. Later in the day they came back with a note from their aunt, stating that they were really needy, and that they had no shoes since Christmas. Upon inquiry I found this to be the fact. I also discovered that I had mistaken their cleanliness of person for comfort. They were really scantily clad. I questioned them very closely and further discovered that they belonged to that class of Southern poor whites, who living amidst the healthful and inspiring industry and intelligence of a Pennsylvania or Ohio village would soon become thrifty and independent. Not one of these boys could read or write. I asked them if they went to school. The oldest one burst into tears, and in a sobbing voice said, "I don't know any school to go to."

It is quite a task to distribute the shoes properly. I could soon give them away. I have refused a great many, white and black. On Saturday I had to station a guard at the door, and let only one in at a time. Some went away with sour faces, and I shall probably, in some quarters, earn the reputation of a "mean fellow." If I was certain of coming back in the fall, I should box up the rest of the things and keep them until next winter.

THE Mayor of Cincinnati recommends a large suburban park, saying that relaxation, surrounded by nature in her most beautiful robes, is imperatively necessary to all who are compelled to live in a crowded city. It would make the people happier and better, and materially reduce the custom of the grog shops. He also urges the setting a part of it aside for a free public base-ball and cricket ground, being fully satisfied that the more we expend in providing recreations of this kind for the people, the less will be our bills of mortality and the shorter our records of crime. Such places of free resort would materially thin the ranks of that numerous class of young men who now resort to the many disreputable places with which all great cities abound. He also wants a free library and city hall, to be used as a free assembly room, large enough to contain 3,000 persons.

THE latest advices received in England from Australia intimate that the assassination of the Duke of Edinburg was attempted by O'Farrell in pursuance of messages sent from conspirators in England, which ordered the Prince's death. It is understood that O'Farrell was selected by lot to perpetrate the crime, and that the attempt would have been made when the Prince landed, but that an opportunity of doing so without risk of injury to others did not occur. The New South Wales government offered £1,000 rewarn for the apprehension of each accomplice, and one arrest, considered to be important, has been made in Victoria

SIR ROBERT NAPIER is lionized in the English papers for his victory in Abyssinia. He has already been honored with the Grand Cross of the Bath, and is to receive a pension of $5,000 a year. It is supposed that he will be offered a peerage, which he will probably be obliged to decline, having many children and slender fortune. He will receive from Parliament the usual pension for three lives, and will succeed Sir W. Mansfield as commander-in-chief in India.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or wherein pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

A Girl Falls Over a Precipice 200 Feet.

A fearful accident occurred Sunday evening, about half past five o'clock, at the precipice in rear of Everson, Preston & Co.'s Iron Mills, in the 8th ward, resulting in the almost instant death of Maggie McGinnis, a girl between fourteen and fifteen years of age, who resided with her parents on Boyd's Hill. The girl in company with two or three others, it appears, was sitting at the top of the precipice, which at that point is fully 200 feet in heighth, and almost perpendicular. There is, however, a bench or offset about halfway up the cliff, above which the hanging rocks project several feet. Upon this bench a few scraggy bushes grow, and beneath it is a mass of rock, nearly one hundred feet in height, jetting out almost over the railroad track. While talking to her companions she had an attack of epilepsy, and being near the edge of the precipice, fell over. A few feet from the top was a sharp rock projecting beyond those surrounding it upon which her clothing caught, and held her suspended between heaven and earth for almost a minute, just beyond the reach of her associates, whose screams were heard on the opposite side of the river. At length the brittle rock gave way, and she was precipitated to the bench or offset below, fully a hundred feet, and passing through the brush or bushes, upon two of which, portions of her hair and clothing still remains, she descended over the next precipice, and lay a lifeless corpse on the railroad track beneath.

The scene was one of almost indiscribable horror to those who witnessed it, and especially to the companions of the unfortunate girl with whom but a moment before her death she had been in pleasant conversation. The very short time her body was suspended over the frightful precipice, almost within their reach, seemed to them an age, and they are unable to give any correct idea of the time it was thus suspended, but persons beneath whose attention was attracted to the frightful spectacle by their screams, say that it remained in that situation but a moment.

The body was removed to a shed attached to the mill, but owing to the crowd of curious visitors who thronged the place, it became necessary to remove it to a dwelling house near by, where it remained until the Coroner arrived. A jury was impannelled and two or three witnesses examined, when the inquest adjourned to meet at the Mayor's office at ten o'clock this morning.

A Dark Station.

Saturday morning, about half-past three o'clock, an accident occurred in the tunnel of the Panhandle Railroad, under a portion of this city, which, fortunately, did no other damage than to obstruct the track for a few hours and break the trucks of two cars. The train, which was bound west, had reached the middle of the tunnel, when the hind truck of the forward passenger coach became detached. The front truck of the second coach struck the detached one, and was torn out. Both trucks were hurled from the track, and the front coach was dragged along the track until the mouth of the tunnel was reached. The rear part of the train was left in the tunnel, but the trucks are being replaced. The cars were full of passengers, but no one was injured, as the train always proceeds at a very slow speed through the tunnel. Some of the passengers in the rear car were not aware that an accident had occurred, and seeing their fellow-passengers leaving the car supposed they were at the depot and started out themselves, when on reaching the door several of them were heard to exclaim: "O, what a dark station! Is Pittsburgh this dark all the time?"

Accident on the Railroad.

Coroner Clawson was called upon to hold an inquest on the body of John Kipe, a coal miner, yesterday, who was killed on the Panhandle railroad, near Mansfield, on Saturday night or Sunday morning. The deceased, it appears, was under the influence of liquor on Saturday evening, and started to go home about eleven o'clock, accompanied by two young men who were unknown to the person seeing him with them. About three o'clock on Sunday morning he was found lying between the rails, a short distance from Mansfield, with his head and right arm on the track. Two freight trains had passed over him, severing his right arm from his body, and his head was literally crushed to atoms. He was removed to the station at Mansfield, when the Coroner proceeded to hold the inquest. Several witnesses were sworn, after which, owing to the absence of the men connected with the railroad, whose testimony is required, the inquest adjourned until five o'clock this evening.

Released.

John Donnelly, committed by the Mayor as a professional thief, for ninety days, about five weeks since, was released on Saturday, and left for Philadelphia on the three o'clock train this morning. It is stated that Donnelly, who is a boy about fifteen years of age, left his home in Philadelphia some two months ago, since when his parents have heard nothing of him, and thought he had been drowned. His whereabouts was discovered accidentally by a Philadelphia policeman, who was in the city on business, and who, as soon as he heard of his being in jail, made application to the Mayor for his release, which was granted, provided he would take him out of the city immediately. The officer promised, and left with his charge as stated.

Serious Accident.

Mr. Henry Scott, residing on Sheffield street, Allegheny, met with a serious accident about half-past six o'clock yesterday evening. He was employed at the outer depot of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway, and at the time of the accident was engaged in "making up" a train. He attempted to jump from a car to the platform while the train was moving rapidly, when his foot caught and he fell on the track between the cars, the wheels of which passed over his right leg, severing the foot at the ankle joint, and bruising his head and face in a shocking mannner. He was removed to his residence and his injuries properly attended to. It is thought he will recover.

Fatal Accident.—An accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad, Friday night, near New Florence, Westmoreland county, which resulted in the death of Thomas Louther, a brakeman on a freight train. Mr. L. was standing on the platform of a car, near the centre of the train, and slipped and fell between the cars. The rear portion of the train passed over his body, killing him instantly. The deceased was a resident of this city, and leaves a wife and two small children, who are dependent upon him for support.

Committed for Trial.—Frank Wright Solomon, a negro, was arrested by officers Scott and Irwin, Saturday, on an information made by Mary Irwin, of East Liberty, charging him with assault and battery with intent to commit rape. She alleges that the negro met her on the street some distance from her home and seized her rudely by the arm. He was taken before the Mayor for a hearing, and in default of $1,000 bail for his appearance at Court, was committed to jail.

The Cathedral.—The workmen have resumed operations on the Cathedral spire, and it will be continued until completed.

MURDER BY POISON!

The Lane Poisoning Case—Conclusion of the Coroner's Investigation—The Contents of the Stomach Analyzed—Verdict of the Jury, &c.

In the GAZETTE, of Monday, the 11th inst., we published an account of the sudden death, on Saturday morning previous, of Henrietta Lane, a negro woman residing at No. 211 Wylie street, in the Sixth ward, in which we gave a detailed statement of the facts as far as developed at that time. The circumstances were such as to arouse a suspicion that the woman had been poisoned and that the fatal dose had been administered by her husband. Alderman Butler, in the absence of Coroner Clawson, impannelled a jury and proceeded to hold an inquest on the body of the deceased, on Saturday, the 9th inst., which was adjourned until Saturday, the 16th inst., in order to have the contents of the stomach analyzed. The stomach, as previously stated, was taken out by Drs. Black and McNary, and taken in charge by Alderman Butler, who placed it in the hands of Prof. Otto Wuth, analytical chemist, for examination. A portion of the contents were examined, as will be seen by the evidence which we publish in full, and a sufficient quantity of arsenic found therein to produce death. The other testimony, although circumstantial, is of such a nature as to leave scarcely a doubt of the guilt of the husband, Lewis Lane. The jury reassembled at the office of Alderman Lindsay, of the Sixth ward, at 4 o'clock P. M. Assistant District Attorney Riddell conducted the examination of witnesses. The following testimony was adduced:

Fleming Kenney, sworn—Live in Sixth ward; am a shoemaker; know Lewis Lane and wife; live in the same building with me. On Thursday of last week Mrs. Lane was taken sick with vomiting; saw her before dinner on Thursday; my wife was in there; Mrs. Lane said she felt very bad, and she wanted water all the time; she complained that her stomach was burning; did not see her afterwards till she was dead; on Friday, before she died, Lane locked the door to prevent people from going in. When she was sick she wanted a doctor. Lane refused to send for one. She said two or three times she believed Lane had given her something. Lane worked at Barker's, on Smithfield street. [Record produced by Alderman Lindsay, showing that Lane and deceased were married April 3d, 1867.]

By a juror—Wednesday night Lane came home with some whisky. Thursday about noon Mrs. Lane was taken with vomiting.

Dr. G. H. McNary, sworn—Am a practicing physician; my office is on Wylie street, Sixth ward; heard of the death of Mrs. Lane, Saturday morning, May 9th; I took her stomach out; the deceased was enciente; I put the stomach in possession of Dr. Black, and he gave it to Acting Coroner Butler; the body was yet warm when I first examined it; Dr. Black assisted me in taking out the stomach; I detected a slight tint of red in the stomach; did not notice any other peculiarity; did not notice any sign of injury on the body; there were no external indications of poison at the time I examined the body.

Dr. Alex. Black, sworn—Assisted Dr. McNary in taking out the stomach; noticed the red streak mentioned by Dr. McNary; this was the only peculiarity I noticed; on Saturday morning Lane came after me; told me his wife was dead; insisted on me going up; he said there was some talk, and he would like me to examine the body; I took the stomach down to Alderman Butler's office and delivered it to him in person.

Alderman J. A. Butler sworn—Am acting as Coroner in this case; Dr. Black brought the stomach to me, and it was not out of my sight until I delivered it to Prof. Wuth.

Wm. Shore sworn—Am a police officer; took Lewis Lane down to jail; after I left the house he took a carpet sack, which he said contained old clothes. He wanted to go around by Seventh street. I declined to go that way. He then wanted to go to a tavern to get a drink; I refused to let him; took him to jail and delivered him to Assistant Jailor Smith; Smith said to the prisoner "we will have to search you." At that time I was looking at the commitment; just then I heard something strike the grate; I looked and saw a liquid substance running down the back of the grate; asked Lane what it was; he said it was medicine; I took a piece of paper and gathered it up; some fragments of the bottle adhered to it. I gave Mr. Smith a portion of it to keep and the remainder I brought to Alderman Butler's office. I showed it to Alderman Butler and some others, and then locked it up in a drawer; did not see it again.

Alderman Butler recalled—I took out the same powder that Mr. Shore put in the drawer, and took it to Professor Wuth.

Professor Otto Wuth, sworn—Am a chemist; have been in the business since 1851; was employed in the Grinder case. Was called on by Alderman Butler and ex-Mayor Lowry on Monday afternoon at my office, corner of Third and Smithfield streets; Alderman Butler handed me a stone jar, tied up with white cloth; he said it contained the stomach of a woman supposed to have been poisoned; asked me to examine it as a chemist. He also handed me a package in an envelope, containing some powder and some pieces of glass, which he thought it best to have examined also. This morning Alderman Butler and officer Shore called on me again; he handed me three small bottles and two large ones; one of the large bottles had a white sediment on the bottom; one bottle I have not yet examined. The three small bottles contained Sulphurate Potassium. The sediment on the bottom of the large bottle proved to be Arsenious Acid in solution, but not all dissolved. Analyzed the contents of the stomach; the stomach was tied up at both ends; it weighed fourteen ounces with contents. Opened the stomach and found it very much inflamed; the mucous membrane in one part of the stomach was congested. I have every reason to believe that a metalic poison was used. I took eight ounces to examine for inorganic poison; kept the remainder to examine for organic poison, if necessary. Those eight ounces proved to contain 4.064 grains of Arsenious Acid, which would give to the whole stomach 5.862 grains of Arsenious Acid. I have separated it from the stomach by the most approved method, and with the greatest care; the method is that of Professor Fresenius, of Germany. I weighed it in shape of Sulphurate of Arsenic. A part of the liquid of the stomach, after I had destroyed the organic matter, I tested by Marsh's process. Found arsenic.

The concave part of the vial that was handed me by Alderman Butler, was coated with a substance which I found to be arsenic. The powder that was mixed with the broken glass was arsenious acid. The quantity of arsenic I found mixed with the broken glass was fourteen grains.

There was arsenic enough in the stomach to produce death. Two grains will cause death in ordinary cases, according to medical authorities.

The testimony here closed, and the jury returned the following verdict:

"Henrietta Lane came to her death at the city of Pittsburgh, Allegheny county, Pa., on May 9th, 1868, by means of poison feloniously administered to her by Lewis Lane."

Alderman Butler, as acting Coroner in the case, at once lodged a commitment against Lane for murder.

If the facts in this case are what the evidence strongly indicate, it is certainly a most diabolical case of murder and is without a parallel since that committed by Mrs. Grinder. There appears to have been no cause or inducement for Lane to murder his wife, other than a desire to be rid of her. The deceased is said to have been his fifth wife, all of whom died suddenly, and in 1860 he was tried and convicted in the Court of Washington county upon a charge of attempting to murder his third wife by administering poison, and sentenced to six years imprisonment in the Penitentiary. He is between forty-five and fifty years of age, and is a most villainous looking man. Alderman Butler was active in bringing about the investigation of the case, and procured the arrest of the accused, who, as stated, was committed to answer the horrid crime of murder, and should he be convicted will have to expiate his guilt upon the gallows, as in cases of this character the law fixes the grade of the crime.

Amusements.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—Time was, under a more popular management, or before Manager Henderson retired from the control of the present one, when the Saturday night houses at this place of amusement were invariably bumpers to the treasury. But not even the attraction of a few very good dancers was able to draw even a fair audience to the Opera House last Saturday night. The gallery was packed full of a noisy rabble of half-growe boys, with a free sprinkling of Africans, but other portions of the auditorium were about one-third filled with youug men, among whom, seated here and there were to be seen eleven females. The exhibition of dancing comprised all the attraction of the evening, and was threaded on to a miserably wretched libretto without point or substance, entitled the "Ice Witch," in which a portion of the regular stock company took part. The dancing was of that extreme character which caused the young men in the audience to divide their observation about equally between the spectacle on the stage and the eleven females aforesaid, two or three of whom, failing in nerve enough to face the revelations of the ballet or the prurient curiosity with which the male spectators were continually leering in their faces, beat a hasty and disorderly retreat from the scene midway in the evening. It is useless to state the particular nature of the artistic demonstrations which elicited the loudest uproar from the circle of immature depravity in the galleries. We may be content with expressing on that point our surprise not that some of the female spectators broke ranks and retreated in confusion, but that all of the eleven did not fly from the field. As for the acting, there was very little of it, and that little was of such a character that still less would have been an improvement. No management which had a respect for the people of this city, or even for the proprieties which were due to some of the people who were scattered among the audience below, would ever have dared to insult them by suffering an actor to appear who was too drunk for distinct articulation, or to walk straight over the boards, nor could any audience be surprised that the management, which permitted this, should have quietly looked on while a play indifferent at best was made offensively a farce by vulgar "gags," tipsy incoherency, the boisterous merriment of the wings, and the derision of the spectators. The character of Harold (Bates) was respectably sustained, while that of Finna (Mrs. Bates) presented the most prominently redeeming feature of the play. None but those who were present can appreciate the pain of the position into which this lady was thrown by the circumstances of the evening, and we congratulate her upon the courage, the fidelity and the evidently protesting indignation with which she encountered so much that was disagreeable. For the rest, it was the only pleasure of the critic to observe that the concern was evidently on its last legs, and most unsteady ones at that, in the approaching termination of a season which has, it is presumed, been equally profitable to the management and to the much-enduring people of this city.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—A correspondent finds fault with our speaking in terms of praise of this place of amusement, while deprecating the management of the Opera House. Our readers all "understand that there should be a line of difference drawn," and that the former pretentious establishment should be the first class place of amusement. Unfortunately, however, the Opera House has sunk below the level of a second class place, and in the race with the Pittsburgh Theatre is worsted. When we award the just praise due the "Old Drury" management we have in view the line of performances which charcterizes the boards there and with which our readers are sufficiently acquainted; but should we praise the Opera House, which shoots high and strikes low, we would then, possibly, be inviting ladies to go where they would be as sadly disappointed and shocked as if they visited a night performance at any other place of amusement in the city. If there is any marked difference between the two houses the Pittsburgh Theater has the advantage in every point of view. The bill for this evening is very good and will doubtless crowd the house, as it was on Saturday night, almost to suffocation.

BURNELL'S MUSEUM is open day and night. Its animal, ornithological, mineral and miscellaneous collections are well worth a visit.

Hand Sewing

Is not thought of in these progressive days. It is a toil too tedious for housekeepers, and the seamstress forced to earn her living with the needle finds the process all too slow to provide her the necessary income. The sewing machine has been established as the required friend; but if a sewing machine fails, through some imperfection, to perform its duties, it is a drawback rather than a helpmate. It must be reliable, must accomplish excellent and durable work, must be adapted to various thicknesses of material, must be simple in construction and easily operated. The Weed Sewing Machine possesses all these meritorious qualities. Satisfy yourself of this by visiting the establishment of the Weed Sewing Machine, and be accommodated in price and terms, at R. H. Long's, No. 112 Grant street.

Interfering with an Officer.—Robert Richmond made himself entirely too officious Saturday evening when officer Flinn was making an arrest, and through his meddling the prisoner escaped. Robert was arrested for his officiousness and conducted to the lock-up, where he slept on the soft side of a plank until yesterday morning, when, upon a hearing, he was fined twenty-five dollars for his interference, in default of which he was committed for thirty days.

Land Slide.—A land slide occurred yesterday at two o'clock P. M. on the Panhandle road, near McCully's Glass Works, in Monongahela borough. A huge mass of earth and rock became detached from the hill above, and came down upon the track, striking and partly demolishing three cars which were standing on F. Negley's coal siding. The obstruction to travel will be very slight, as the track will be cleared before two o'clock to-day, and until that time passengers will change cars at that point.

Illegal Liquor Selling.—Constable John Thompson made information before Justice Kelley, of Temperanceville, on Saturday, charging John Snyder and Mrs. Tarp, of Chartiers township, and Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Murray, of Temperanceville, with selling liquor on Sunday, and against the last three named for selling without license. They were arrested and held for a hearing.

Personal.—Dr. Elias Wildman, a distinguished and venerable member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will arrive in this city to-day to attend the session of the Grand Lodge, which will be held in Lafayette Hall during the present week. He will be entertained at the Rush House to-morrow evening by Elias Wildman Lodge of this city.

Fleeced.—We learn that the "sporting men" of this city were completely fleeced last week by a New York sharper. A saloon keeper on Smithfield street, it is stated, contributed $3,100, and several others were beaten out of smaller sums, amounting in all to over $9,000.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, May 9, 1868.

To Wheeler & Wilson, of New York:

SIR:—The Department has received one Gold Medal, awarded to your firm on sewing and button hole machines at the Paris Universal Exposition of 1867.

Your obedient servant,
WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

For Chicago.—A large number of persons passed through this city, Saturday, on their way to Chicago to attend the National Republican Convention, and yesterday at 2.50 the delegation from Washington City arrived at the Union depot en route for that place. Among the number we noticed Gen. Sickles, Gen. Lee, of Connecticut, and several others of equal military notoriety.

Cases at the Watch House.—There were eleven cases heard at the Mayor's Court yesterday morning, Alderman Butler presiding, all "drunks" and "disorderlies." Out of the eleven five were discharged, three paid the fines imposed upon them, and the remaining three were committed.

THE INTRIGUES OF MR. CHASE.

The N. Y. Times' dispatch of the 14th says: The movement to present Chief Justice Chase to the National Democratic Convention is becoming more and more tangible every day. Mr. Welch, one of the proprietors of the Philadelphia Age, and a delegate to the Convention, and Mr. Frazer, the Assessor of Internal Revenue of the First Pennsylvania District, are in town to-day, and avow that the movement is an earnest one, and will be pushed through to success.

A dispatch to the Philadelphia Bulletin says: Within a day or two the draft of a proposed Democratic platform has been submitted to both Chase and Andy Johnson and received approval by both, the former making a few verbal alterations. It indulges in some generalities about slavery as no longer a living issue, and in a vague sort of a way endorses the Wade Hampton pretence of equal franchise, based on education and property for all newly-made citizens. The rest of the draft denounces the reconstruction policy of Congress, leans strongly against protection, denounces high taxation, and demands universal amnesty.

The Washington Chronicle of the 14th says:

"Having failed to secure a nomination for President over Mr. Lincoln in 1864, it is well known that Secretary Chase endeavored after the Baltimore Convention had placed its candidate in the field, to organize a new movement to divide the party. Failing in this, he reluctantly retired to the Supreme Bench, where he has considered himself politically shelved, and with restless ambition has constantly manœuvred to get the Presidency. An eminent politician, well acquainted with the purposes of prominent men in Washington, announced, six months ago, that there were to be three candidates for the Presidency, of whom Chase and Grant would be two, with a view of throwing the election into Congress, out of which the Chief Justice expected to come triumphant.

We expect this is a true indication of the ultimate purposes of the Chief Justice, who has resorted to an extraordinary amount of dinner diplomacy, and long drives with doubtful Senators, to defeat impeachment. It is about time his long career of treachery to the Republican party was exposed. Nobody, of course, doubts that he and Andrew Johnson long ago conspired together to save the life of Jeff. Davis; and that this leading traitor would have been tried, convicted, and punished long ago, had an honest judge performed his duty and an honest Executive enforced the law."

Of one of the parties to this intrigue, the Philadelphia North American says:

Some persons mistook the mere talking ability of these men for actual public capacity. But when their leader, Fessenden, was made Secretary of the Treasury, his utter weakness was so lamentably evident to himself and everybody else, that he voluntarily resigned. He had not an idea of management. He could suggest no practical remedies for financial evils. He had no mental resources but for talking and grumbling at what other men did.

The Philadelphia Bulletin remarks:

Among the remarkable announcements of the last day or two is one telegraphed on from Washington that the traitor Senators left the Senate after its adjournment on Monday, and went in a body to dine with Mr. Cnase, there to lay the foundation of a new party, of which Mr. Chase was to be the leader and the prospective President of the country.

Whether this statement is true we do not know, and care very little. It is sufficient that the conduct of all the parties implicated, Messrs. Chase, Fessenden, Trumbull, Henderson, Grimes, &c., has been such as to render it possible for such stories to gain belief. But the point that is most striking in the whole matter, and which induces us to refer to it here, is the utter infatuation of the parties concerned. These men, after having appeared, dressed in a little brief authority for a certain time before the public, come to think that they are great powers in the State, fitted both to sway public opinion and to make it. In this lies the conspicuous absurdity of their present conduct.

As to the idea of those men swaying opinion, founding new parties and controlling ideas, they might just as well attempt to control the wind, and order it to blow North or South. The governing political element in this country is now the Republican party. That party has a definite policy, and when those persons whom that party has placed in power see fit to sell themselves for place or still worse for money, the party that elected them will cast them out with scorn and derision. It is absolutely ludicrous to see these men fancying that they can divide or reorganize a great party; one would suppose that the futile attempts of such other renegades as Johnson, Doolittle, Dixon and Cowan would have sufficiently indicated the fate that awaits new apostates.

A special to the Chicago Republican, dated May 15th, makes the following remarkable statements:

There have been startling developments here to-day, which show conclusively that there has been a regular conspiracy on the part of Chief Justice Chase and renegade Republican Senators to defeat the impeachment and elevate the former to the Presidency at the cost of breaking up the Republican party.

Night before last, Chief Justice Chase invited Hon. H. S. Bundy, member of the 39th Congress from Ohio, to call upon him and stated he had some important matters to talk about. Mr. Bundy having long shared the confidence of the Chief Justice, and being heretofore his firm supporter and personal friend, accepted the invitation.

During the interview, Mr. Chase told Mr. Bundy that it was his intention to become a candidate for the Presidency on the Democratic ticket, and not succeeding in this, he should enter the arena as an independent candidate against General Grant. Of his own success, he said, there could be no doubt. The impeachment would fail, and thus failing, would divide the Republican party, and that statesmen like Trumbull, Fessenden, Henderson, Grimes and Fowler would be recognized as head of one division of the Republican party; and these five men, he said, had pledged themselves, ten days ago, that they would stand by and support him in this movement. The Chief Justice gave Mr. Bundy his views in full on this movement, speaking very confidently as to its success, and predicting the downfall of Radicalism as represented by the advocates of impeachment.

This treason on the part of the Chief Justice so astonished Mr. Bundy, that he at once communicated what had been said to leading Radicals here.

A special to the New York Times says:

The most astounding political intrigue ever known to the politics of this country is now on foot among prominent politicians and office-holders in this city and elsewhere. The chief movers in it are Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, after acquittal, and Chief Justice Chase. The object is the formation of a third party and the defeat of Gen. Grant, if nominated at Chicago. On Tuesday last, Ex-Gov. Pratt, of Maryland, said that acquittal would follow, and before the week was out the country would be astonished by an entire change of Cabinet. It has since transpired that the President has agreed to send in a new Cabinet of Republicans, immediately after acquittal, and to adopt and strictly carry out the Reconstruction measures of Congress. Senator Henderson last night stated this agreement to be a fact, and it is believed by shrewd judges to be one of the principal elements whereby sufficient strength and power may be given to Mr Chase's party to make it formidable, and to throw the Presidential election into the House of Representatives, if not to elect it candidate before the people. This movement expects to be able to defeat General Grant by arraying itself against the extreme radical element in the Republican party which, it is believed, will be his main support. The proposition that the President shall abandon his opposition to Congress is intended to neutralize the power of that body long enough to make inroads upon it in favor of this movement. When the Administration is fully reorganized, its power and patronage will be used to enhance Mr Chase's prospects. It is not believed he would accept a Democratic nomination, but the fact that Mr. Voorhees and many other prominent Democrats openly advocate his nomination, is conclusive that a strong Democratic support is at his command. Mr. Chase is unreserved in his expressions of contempt for General Grant as a political leader, and for the impeachment movement, and bewails what he terms the tendency of the party to take up with small men, and says the party has surrendered to General Grant. His influence has been excited from the beginning to defeat the impeachment, and he is believed to have done more than any other man to secure the acquittal of Mr. Johnson. Hence the latter is willing, if acquitted, to reward Mr. Chase by throwing the influence of the Administration in his favor. The discovery of this intrigue has startled the political metropolis to its very centre. All eyes are anxiously turned on the Chicago Convention. These are the developments which are in everybody's mouth to-day to the exclusion almost of even the verdict. Those who choose can take these statements cum grano salis. But they are based on the facts and names mentioned above, and have an absolute foundation. One thing is certain, the Chief Justice is still a candidate for the Presidency. Any one who doubts this deserves a straight jacket.

Another correspondent says:

"The scheme shows the hand of Seward and Chase very plainly, and proves that the wily premier has by no means foregone his intention of destroying the Republican party. This time, however, the movement is from the inside, and not, as in the notorious convention of 1866, from the outside. The delay has not helped this precious scheme."

—The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce on Saturday unanimously adopted the report of the Special Committee of that body in favor of government aid in the construction of the Kansas Pacific Railroad.
